FEDERAL ELECTION JUNE 24?

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Possibility of calling the federal election for Monday, June 24, is now receiving study in government circles here, it was learned today.

The later June date is being more favorably considered than June 10, which formerly had been talked of as the most likely date.

Parliament is expected to be called into session in mid-January with prorogation to come about Wednesday, April 17, government sources said.

Fighting Breaks Out In Algeria

TUNIS (AP)—Premier Habib Bourguiba told the Tunisian Parliament tonight that fighting has broken out between French and Tunisian troops along the Algerian frontier.

The Tunisian information minister, Bechir Ben Yahmed, said the government has ordered its tiny army to resist any French attempt to cross the frontier from Algeria and to hold Tunisian frontier posts at all costs.

Ben Yahmed told a press conference that 15 small units of the French fleet had sailed into Gabes, along the east coast of Tunisia. A general strike was called at once, he said, and thousands demonstrated.

There was no immediate comment from French government sources in Paris on the reported fighting.

The reports of clashes followed the French capture of five leaders of the Algerian nationalist rebellion. The capture has brought bitter protests and rioting at several points in Tunisia and Morocco.

PLANE HITS HOUSES IN CALIFORNIA

OAKLAND, Calif. (BUP)—A plane believed to be a single-jet United States navy aircraft crashed in a populated section of Oakland at 11:41 a.m., today and first reports said a fire is raging at the scene.

Oakland police said the plane crashed into the side of a "populated mountain residential area." There were no immediate reports as to whether the plane hit homes, nor as to the fate of the plane's pilot.

Tracking Dog To Join Hunt For Lost Youth

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—Weary searchers struck out today through deepening snow in the sixth day of search for a young hunter, missing in mountain country northwest of here.

Thirty men took up a trail of footprints through the snow north of the Whipsaw Creek area which they hope belong to Harvey Garrison, 18, of Princeton.

Garrison disappeared last Friday while hunting with a companion. "The tracks in the snow must be his," a police officer said today. "We know of no one else in the area."

He said the tracks are in a north-westerly direction and should be followed to below the snowline to day. Then, a tracking dog will be used.

Thirty men camped out overnight in the cold mountains so as to get an early start in the hunt, 200 miles east of Vancouver.

Townpeople of Princeton raised $1,000 in a five-hour drive Wednesday. This sum will pay for 10 hours searching by a helicopter.

Game Warden Allen Gill, leader of the search party, said Garrison is warmly dressed, has a rifle and matches and has a good chance of surviving.

Hungary Premier Seeks Removal of Red Troops

Revolt Rages On Casualties Heavy

VIENNA (UP)—A German engineer who left Budapest this noon estimated that 2,000 to 3,000 persons had been killed in the fighting in the Hungarian capital.

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

VIENNA—Hungary's civil war raged through its third day today despite new government promises of forgiveness and a pledge to negotiate withdrawal of all Soviet troops in Hungary.

Premier Imre Nagy promised he will negotiate with Moscow to withdraw Russian occupation troops if the rebels will end their revolution.

Nagy went on the radio to appeal for the rebellious forces of students and workers to lay down their arms and help his new government.

He promised that if they did so the country would get a new deal.

"As soon as order is re-established those troops which were called by our government to help will be withdrawn," he said.

Apparently this meant that as soon as the revolution ended the Russian troops, tanks and jet plane pilots would be recalled to their bases. Then Nagy would take up negotiations with Moscow to have the four or five Soviet divisions in Hungary removed to Russia.

Broadcasters in Budapest claimed troops were slowly crushing the anti-Soviet rebellion—but fighting was continuing.

Radio Budapest announced that Erno Geroe, first secretary of the Hungarian Communist party, has been ousted from his post and Janos Kadar named to succeed him.

Kadar had been arrested in a recent purge and then released. Kadar is a former interior minister who spent four years in prison on charges of Titoism and then was again made a leading personality in the Hungarian Communist party.

He was a member of the Hungarian delegation headed by Geroe which visited President Tito in Yugoslavia earlier this month.

RUSSIANS WITHDRAW

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet army units in Poland "have either already withdrawn to their bases or are in the course of doing so," the Polish news agency PAF reported in a special announcement today.

The agency said all Soviet troop movements will have been concluded Oct. 25.

"Life throughout the country now is back to normal," the agency said.

TROUBLE SPOTS FOR RUSSIA

Heavy arrows on map point to strife-torn European danger zones. In Warsaw, Wladyslaw Gomulka's appointment as red party leader touched off mass sit-down strikes by workers demanding that Russia keep hands off Polish affairs. WORLD REACTION

NEW YORK—President Eisenhower says the United States "deplores the intervention of Soviet military forces" in strife-torn Hungary.

OTTAWA—External affairs minister Lester Pearson withheld official comment but intimated he may make a policy statement Saturday.

LONDON—British and west European newspapers treated the rebellion with caution. "The fortunes of eastern Europe hang by a thread," said the Manchester Guardian. "It is a political tightrope walk... and a Russian blood bath."

STRASBOURG—The 16-country council of Europe's Consultative Assembly will vote Friday on a proposal to give economic aid to trouble East European countries if they ask for it.

MONTREAL—The Hungarian Liberation Movement sent telegrams to the UN Security Council, and to Eisenhower, pleading "stop the Russian slaughter of Hungarians."

WASHINGTON—Government officials believe that Russia's show of the iron fist in Hungary will damage severely her ability to win friends and build influence in South Asia and the Middle East.

TORONTO—Joseph Salberg, former Labor Progressive party member of the Ontario legislature, praised the anti-Soviet demonstrations as "a good thing for the Polish people and Hungarian people and socialism in general."

FIRE—Erno Geroe, Hungarian Communist party politburo chief, was shorn of post in current uprisings in Budapest. He was replaced by Janos Kadar.

Faster Than Its Speeding Bullet, Jet Fighter Shoots Itself Down

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Evening Sun says a new U.S. Navy jet fighter, flying at supersonic speed, shot itself down by running into cannon shells it had fired seconds before.

In a story by Donald Bremner, the paper says the fantastic accident—first of its type in aviation history—occurred last month while a test pilot was test firing new 20-mm cannons over the Atlantic Ocean near Long Island.

Bremner says test pilot Tom Attridge, who survived, was making a series of diving runs in an F11-F1, a new single-seat carrier-based fighter still undergoing tests.

The pilot's mission was to reach a certain speed and test the four cannons at that speed by firing them into the ocean. He put his jet into a shallow

DETROIT (AP)—Striking Chrysler workers voted today to return to work on their afternoon shift after a three-day wildcat walkout that made 35,000 employees idle.

The dispute involved seniority in the promotion of 30 men to gas welder. The Auto Workers' Union said the dispute would be negotiated.

Woman Pedestrian Killed; 16th Traffic Fatality Here

The Greater Victoria traffic fatality toll for 1956 rose to 16 by a car while crossing Richmond Road Wednesday night when a 68-year-old woman died of injuries.

69 DEATHLESS DAYS TO GO

Fatality-Free Drive Balked After 3 Days

The effort of Victoria drivers to keep a clean sheet to the end of 1956 with "72 deathless days" failed after only three days when a pedestrian was killed on Richmond Road Wednesday night.

This raised to 16 the number of traffic fatalities for the Greater Victoria area this year. When the campaign started Monday it was estimated that, on the basis of deaths so far, there would be another four by the year's end unless motorists and pedestrians would all collaborate in a courtesy and safety drive to avoid accidents.

With the 72-day period broken, a new target has been set of "69 deathless days" to the end of the year.

Letter Campaign By Govt. to Cut B.C. Traffic Toll

The B.C. government is to adopt the direct mail approach to motorists in a campaign to reduce death on the highways, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

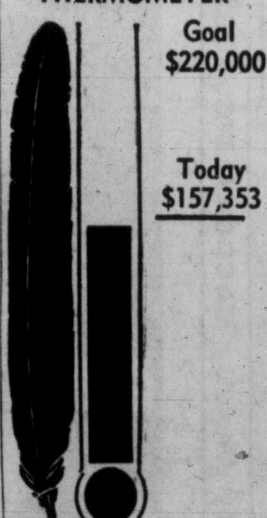

It will take the form of a tersely worded pamphlet suggesting methods by which the motorist can improve his driving.

The pamphlet will first be sent out by the Motor Vehicle Branch as an enclosure in the more than 1,000 letters a day that are mailed by the branch.

Later the pamphlet may be enclosed in other categories of provincial government mail.

"Everyone in the business world knows that the direct mail approach is the most effective medium of advertising," Mr. Bonner said.

Raid on 'Trained Brainpower' In U.S. Launched by Canada

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Plans are being made by the federal government to try to reverse the steady flow of professional manpower that is draining into the United States many of the trained men badly needed in Canadian industry.

There has developed a drive by U.S. industry to attract Canadians across the border. This has resulted in a mounting tide of trained Canadians moving south to take up residence and jobs.

The Canadian government has decided to launch its own campaign to raid the U.S. store of "trained brainpower," one official explained here.

The department of citizenship and immigration will dispatch two of its officers across the United States, as a start, to ascertain the possibilities of persuading American manpower to emigrate to Canada.

Later, the government—depending upon the findings of the two officers—plans to establish immigration offices in a number of American cities or alternatively attach trained immigration officers to Canadian consular offices to bring employment opportunities to the attention of the type of U.S. personnel needed in Canada.

The number of professional workers leaving Canada for jobs across the border in the period 1950 to 1955 was fairly constant. It varied between 2,800 and 3,500. The government believes that Canada attracted more immigrants in the professional worker class in that period than it lost.

The number of all types of immigrants from the U.S. has been running around 10,000 annually, with "Canada suffering a deficit balance. In 1953 some 35,000 persons living in Canada moved across the border. The following year the total dropped to 33,000. In 1955 it climbed to 37,200 with 20,000 of the immigrants going in the second half of the year."

U.S. industrialists have been making a concerted drive to lure Canadian-trained personnel to their companies across the border. Canadians who have been studying at universities and colleges south of the border have been a prime target for the American personnel officers.

The American company representatives have been invading

CAPT. NORDENSON

Skipper Suffers Heart Attack At Ship Probe

NEW YORK—Captain Gunnar Nordenenson, master of the liner Stockholm, suffered a "cerebral spasm" Wednesday when testifying about the fatal collision of his ship with the Andrea Doria last July 26.

Unable to answer correctly a complex mathematical question, he turned to the hearing master and said softly: "I don't feel well." He turned pale and his pallid face dropped forward into his trembling hands.

He had been asked to calculate how much time would elapse before the two ships collided if they travelled at a combined speed of 40 knots over a 10-mile distance. The captain worked at the problem for 10 minutes, gave the wrong answer, and then turned pale.

He was led from the stand and the hearing was adjourned. He likely will remain in hospital until Monday.

Earlier Nordenenson had admitted his third mate who testified that the collision took place nine minutes after the radar sighted the Doria at 10 miles distance, apparently erased the plot of the Andrea Doria's course following the collision. Presentation of the radar plot would have been an important factor in events leading up to the disaster from which more than $40 million in suits and countersuits have been filed against both lines.

fied as Robert B. Travis, 185 Barkley.

Mrs. McCoy suffered head injuries, fractured right arm and elbow, broken leg and internal injuries.

A number of operations were performed during the four hours she lay in the Jubilee emergency ward in the attempt to save her life.

PATROL CAR CRASH

The accident occurred a few minutes before 8 p.m.

A police ambulance patrol car driven by Const. Fred Acreman, answering the call, was involved in a collision with another car at Bay and Cook.

City police were kept busy during the hour between 7 and 8 answering two other accidents involving injuries and heavy damage to autos. (See page 21).

The fatality was the fifth of the year in the city of Victoria.

The last occurred a week ago when Mrs. Mary Lush, 60, of 211 Cook, died three days after she was injured in a collision at Simcoe and Government.

Funeral services for Mrs. McCoy will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at St. Alban's.

Mrs. McCoy was born in Manitou, Man., and was the widow of John Frederick McCoy.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. F. Hamilton, Mrs. James Beech, Mrs. William Pugh and Mrs. W. Waldron, all of Victoria; two sons, William and George, Victoria; two brothers, William and Edgar Pugh, Victoria, and seven grandchildren.

Canadian campuses to persuade university graduates to move to the U.S.

Advertisements appear in large Canadian papers inserted by U.S. concerns. One appeared in Toronto last week which read:

"Just 200 miles from the Canada-U.S. border you can be working for a well established concern which has been a leader in the field of ignition for 30 years. Due to our new expansion program we have immediate need for qualified personnel for above listed openings."

The advertisement was appealing for Canadian electrical and mechanical engineers.

The aviation industry in the U.S. in particular has carried out an extensive campaign to attract Canadian-trained personnel.

EASING IN DRAFT

The campaign by the American firms has been stepped up because of an easing in the draft situation across the border.

Young Canadians for years have been reluctant to move into jobs in the U.S. because they were advised they might be compelled to serve immediately in the American armed forces. Now that situation is changing and there is less likelihood of Canadians occupying technical positions in the U.S. being subject immediately to a draft call.

The higher salaries prevailing across the border make the jobs in American companies attractive. Canadian salary levels may be forced upwards in several vocations as Canadian employers are forced to compete with their American counterparts.

Canada's campaign to attract trained American personnel into Canadian jobs was opened last week when Hon. James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries, spoke in Chicago. He called for a great northward flow of U.S. citizens to help Canada develop its resources.

"The U.S. actually has a debt to pay back to Canada in this matter," he declared. Canadians who cross the line are not untrained and unskilled, he said, but the "bright young college graduates."

While this country was not asking all of them to return "what we do need today, however, is a northward flow of the same type of young people to participate in our great development," he said.

HOUSE OPENS FEB. 7

Premier Eases Opposition Chores

Next session of the British Columbia Legislature will open on Thursday, Feb. 7, at 3 p.m., Premier Bennett announced Wednesday.

"This will give the opposition members a full weekend in which to prepare their replies to the Speech from the Throne," the Premier said.

In previous years the opening of the Legislature often took place on a Tuesday.

The Premier intimated the budget will be brought down about two weeks after the opening—probably on a Friday—so that the opposition will have "a full weekend" in which to study it.

"From this you will see that the government is doing its best to be kind to the opposition," Mr. Bennett said.

"There is, of course, a much smaller opposition and the government wants to co-operate in every way possible."

The next session will be first since the Socreds were returned to power with 39 seats out of 52 on Aug. 27.

TIME TO TAKE STOCK

Good Art Strikes Real Hard Blow

By GWADYS DOWNES

For nearly two years this column has been trying, more or less tactfully, to separate the wheat from the chaff in gallery exhibitions and discuss general principles of aesthetics from the point of view of the interested spectator.

With the prospect of class A exhibitions coming in the near future (when the fireproof wing is built), it seems to me time to take stock and make a few stinging remarks about quality and values.

The present exhibitions by the Canadian Group of Painters and the Painter-Etchers, let me say first, are well worth seeing. With one or two exceptions, the level is average to high compared to our usual group shows.

There is even a picture "The Rocking Chair," by Marthe Rakine, that I feel I could live with. But there is also some of the mediocrity which is the bane of Canadian letters and art.

If art is not an experience that hits you, almost like a blow to the solar plexus, what good is it? Surely the whole point is that some sensation is communicated in a living, vital way? You might as well be looking at wall-paper if you are not receiving a keen impression of someone else's ordered sensibility.

Artist Examines Bit of Our Universe

Now you may not like what you see. Your experience may have in it disturbing elements. So has "King Lear." And if art is to be important that is precisely what its value may be for you. For the other thing that we require of the artist is to reveal to us something of the nature of experience which we have not realized, or articulated, ourselves. He examines a bit of our universe by the concentrated light of his own vision.

After looking at Jan Zach's charcoal sketches of Victoria beaches, or Emily Carr's forest sketches, can you ever look at familiar scenery again with the same eyes? Your experience has been enlarged, enriched, and made coherent by your acceptance of their formal presentation of inchoate shapes.

To me, Ezra Pound's statement about literature "Literature is news that stays news" is true for art as well. My quarrel with many painters, competent though they may be, is that they have as little to say which is really news of the world we live in, as a cornflake advertisement. Either the artist has had no experience which is worth while communicating, or his technical equipment does not permit him to convey what he has experienced. In both cases the spectator has to admit that he has asked for bread and been given a stone.

Aid for India's Beggar Children Asked Here by Dr. Hitschmanova

Support for homeless and hungry children, members of the next generation and "our hope for tomorrow" was urged Wednesday night by Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, executive director of the Unitarian Services Committee in Ottawa.

Here on a cross-country tour, Dr. Hitschmanova addressed more than 200 persons at Victoria College. She will leave Canada Dec. 1 on her fourth world tour of major relief areas.

"As the years go by, I find it increasingly difficult to describe in words alone the conditions as I find them," she said. "It is far more tragic to convey, because people are involved, people just as we are."

FAINT FROM HUNGER

"I was one of very few women in Seoul in 1952, just 40 miles from the battlefield. With the United Nations in Korea, relief workers found that the great need was to feed hungry children—children who would get up, go to school, and then faint from hunger at noon."

"At that time we introduced a school-feeding program which was later taken over by UNICEF and the Korean government."

"When I returned in 1953, I was told that 6,000 children still needed supplemental feeding."

and they could feed only 4,000 to 5,000.

"Today, however, that emergency is almost over and the great new problem facing us in Korea is one of education, training and rehabilitation."

EAGER TO LEARN

"More than 75 per cent of the schools were destroyed during the Korean war."

In India, the greatest need is assistance to beggar children, slum dwellers and isolated villages, she said.

"Over the months the USC has saved literally thousands of lives."

In the middle East the USC is pledged to supply clothing to more than 500,000 children who are in utter rags.

"They have asked for school uniforms. The USC bought material and cut out 5,000 uniforms. Now we are looking for people across Canada to sew them for us," she said.

Volunteers may write the Unitarian Services Committee in Ottawa, Ont.

On Christmas Day in Greece

Dr. Hitschmanova will act as the "Canadian Santa Claus" in distributing toys, blankets and clothing to 15,000 orphans.

The USC is pledged to raise $100,000 for these projects before the end of the year.

"I am here to ask your support," said Dr. Hitschmanova. Meeting was sponsored by the local United Nations Association as a special program for United Nations Day Wednesday.

Dr. Hitschmanova also was scheduled to address a meeting of Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel today at noon.

Fruit Growers Planning to Fire 'Whole Regime', Official Claims

(From CP Dispatches)
KELOWNA—It was reported today that the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association will not wait until its annual convention in January to request appointment of a royal commission to investigate the fruit industry. BCFGA officials are said to be prepared to make the request to the provincial government at Victoria as soon as a majority of member locals have endorsed the idea. Seven locals have endorsed the demand for a commission which would investigate all phases of the B.C. fruit industry. Poor returns on the 1955 crop have caused unrest among the growers and it is reported the whole executive of the marketing organization is threatened with a shake-up. Max de Puyper, Kelowna packing house official, predicts the "whole regime" would be thrown out of office at the BCFGA convention. He charged that the marketing set-up is operating illegally because only 50 per cent of growers are signed and the law requires 75 per cent. Fruit growers say the revolt is not against the single marketing board but against the persons in charge of it. The "whole regime" would include the grower-controlled marketing agency, B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.; the executive of the BCFGA; directors of the grower-owned B.C. Fruit Processors Ltd., and the B.C. Fruit Board which administers the scheme under B.C. Natural Products Marketing Act.

WILLIAMS LAKE—Gordon Buck, charged with the murder of the daughter of his common-law wife near their home at Dugan Lake, about 20 miles north of here, was committed for trial here Wednesday. Buck, 28-year-old saw mill worker, was charged after discovery of the body of nine-year-old Heather Reinderer about 1,500 feet from their home. BID FOR CLC MEMBERSHIP
VANCOUVER—United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union is reported to be appealing for support in a new bid to rejoin the Canadian Labor Congress. The fishermen's union was suspended by the former Trades and Labor Congress three years ago for alleged Communist domination. NEW WESTMINSTER FIRST
VANCOUVER—The city of New Westminster will be the first area on the lower mainland to receive natural gas when it becomes available. Dr. H. L. Purdy, vice-president of the British Columbia Electric Co., announced Wednesday night. Gas is expected to arrive in Vancouver from a U.S. gas line Nov. 5. STRIKE DEADLOCK
KAMLOOPS—There is no sign of a settlement between striking Local 993 of the United Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and members of the Interior Electrical Association, a union spokesman said here Wednesday. The union is asking a wage increase of 45 cents an hour, six statutory holidays and fringe benefits.

Outsiders Barred

CONSERVATIVE MEMBERS OF Parliament have made it clear to the Ottawa correspondents that one of their number must be the party's new leader. Since only three members, Messrs. Diefenbaker, Fleming and Fulton, apparently intend to contest the December convention one of them will be chosen and the odds seem to favor Mr. Diefenbaker.

Many commentators across the country have been urging the Conservative Party to go outside the ranks of its regulars and choose a new man, preferably a young man, who would not carry the burden of the party's record and frequent defeats.

This may be good advice but probably will be rejected. The only outsider ever chosen as leader by a great national party was Mr. John Bracken and his leadership was a disastrous failure. That experience will hardly be risked again.

In one of his most famous dicta Walter Bagehot, the accepted authority on the British Constitution, held that the chief function of the House of Commons was to choose the prime minister. In Britain he is still chosen by the elected members of the dominant party, as the opposition leader is chosen by his parliamentary colleagues.

In Canada, where we have adopted this aspect of the American system, a party leader is chosen nowadays by a party convention. But in a party convention the elected members of Parliament are always powerful and usually decisive.

The Conservative members of the present Parliament, though small in number, are the core of the party. No convention is likely to over-ride them, especially when they would regard the elevation of an outsider as a want-of-confidence vote in their work.

It seems altogether probable, therefore, that in the important post of opposition leader the nation must make do with material already known and at least partially tried. No Moses is available to lead the Conservative Party out of the wilderness. No miracle is in sight.

But it would be quite unfair to judge the new leader in advance because the nation has known him as a lieutenant in the past. In politics no man's full capacities are ever known until he reaches the peak. And then his success or failure is usually surprising.

Even Laurier seemed at first a dubious asset to the Liberal Party after the great Blake. Borden appeared a dull and rather commonplace Conservative leader until he won the election of 1911 and went on to fight the First World War and ably represent Canada at the Paris peace conference.

Mr. Meighen, on the other hand, came to the premiership superbly equipped with reputation and ability, but he failed.

Few saw in the youthful Mackenzie King, at the convention of 1919, the lineaments of our most successful statesman in modern times. Mr. St. Laurent, then an almost unknown lawyer from Quebec, appeared at the beginning an indifferent successor to King.

It may not be too much to hope that a familiar figure in Parliament like Mr. Diefenbaker will show unsuspected resources when, for the first time, he can lead instead of following. Certainly there never was a time when the nation more urgently required ability in the Opposition.

The convention of December 10 will not be merely a family gathering of professional Conservative politicians. It must consider national business of the highest importance, business of deep concern to every citizen, since it must choose the leader of an alternative government, the only alternative available at the moment.

Not Such a Lame Duck

BECAUSE PRESIDENT EISENHOWER can have no more than two terms—in accordance with provisions of the 22nd Constitutional Amendment—the suggestion has been made that if he is re-elected, he will head little more than a "lame duck" administration.

The term and the assumption are based on error. A "lame duck" administration is the regime of a president who has been defeated—who has lost the endorsement of the people—and is merely serving out his term.

If Mr. Eisenhower is returned to power, he will be no "lame duck." He will have the support of the people. And if his influence among his own followers is reduced by the fact that he may not retain the leadership after a second term, he will still have all the prerogatives of leadership during that term.

Beyond that, in the light of present indications, his personal influence should continue strong. If the Republicans win Congress, or if they hold a substantial number of the seats already in their possession, much of the credit will go to the President personally. He has apparently captured the people—something which the right-wing, non-Eisenhower Republicans have failed to do. Any who slide back into office on his coat-tails might take stock of that fact.

If they wish to remain in office after a prospective Eisenhower second term, they should assess the appeal which Mr. Eisenhower has established.

They cannot expect to enjoy the magnetism of an Eisenhower by opposing those principles and policies for which the President stands.

The situation in the United States at present, although unique because a third term is prevented by legislation now, is not entirely without precedent. By tradition presidents, with the notable exception of Roosevelt, limited themselves to no more than two terms.

In their second terms such chief executives were not impotent, were not lame-ducks, were not ineffective in the conduct of their country's business. Nor were they inconsequential in influencing the choice of a successor.

There are, of course, many developments which could rob Mr. Eisenhower of his present prestige and could swing the responsibility of party leadership to a vice-president or some other figure. But, from this distance, it seems unreasonable to assume that a Republican presidential victory next month would automatically hatch a lame-duck or anything like one.

Not Too Reassuring

AMBASSADOR LIVINGSTON Merchant, the United States' topflight diplomat in Canada, has attempted to ease this country's anxiety over American dumping of agricultural surpluses.

The ambassador seems to regard his country's disposal of its excess wheat and other commodities in what has been called a "give-away" program as a matter of small moment.

He is inclined, also, to see little that is disturbing in the manner by which the United States has tied these transactions to arrangements safeguarding ordinary American markets.

This, the ambassador points out, is not a new development. That is true. But what has exercised the Canadian people is that the means by which the dumping of surplus farm products was tied to other deals was not disclosed to Canadians. This country learned of that feature of the negotiations only through the effective inquiries of Canadian newspapermen.

Trade Minister Howe has expressed, in formal terms, this nation's view of the harm it suffers from such transactions.

Mr. Merchant, on the other hand, has voiced the opinion that any injury sustained by Canada is temporary.

It is difficult to follow the logic of that point of view. How can dumping of farm surpluses by the United States—to the admitted disadvantage of Canada—be temporary when the United States continues the same principles of farm subsidies which in themselves create more surpluses?

The American ambassador seems unduly optimistic in his suggestion that his country's policies can solve the surplus problem, unless, of course, he is thinking in terms of the drought which Canada's Agriculture Minister Gardiner says is now striking large midwest grain areas and moving up into Canada.

Drought could solve the surplus problem by its own drastic and tragic means. If it does, however, the solution will not be attributable to the man-made remedies of our good neighbor.

The Funny People

"THE AMERICAN voters," writes Mr. James Reston in The New York Times, "are funny people: they don't listen. Once every four years they are courted and coaxed by Presidents and would-be Presidents, by Democrats and Republicans, by commentators, reformers, socialists, teetotalers, vegetarians and prohibitionists, but they don't listen."

Reading this lead paragraph in Mr. Reston's boisterous essay, one immediately applies it to the Canadian voters. They, too, are being courted by various parties in the first stages of a six-month courtship to end in some kind of four-year marriage contract next June.

But are they listening? No, in traveling pretty widely about Canada during the last year or so, I have observed hardly anybody listening to the politicians. They are listening, all right, but to voices on television, radio or movie screens.

The American people, says Mr. Reston, "talk more politics, they start more arguments, they attend more rallies, they watch more political forums, they tune in on more press conferences than all the other peoples in all the other elections in Christendom, but they don't listen."

This statement is not quite fair to the Canadian people. At the art of not listening the Canadians can beat the Americans, hands-down.

The American people, Mr. Reston goes on, are funny people: they don't read. "They buy more newspapers and subscribe to more magazines than the British, the French, the Germans and the Italians, but they don't read them. They line their shelves with them, they start fires with them, they wrap fish in them, they make hats for their children with them, they pack dishes in them, but they don't read."

All this discourages a writer like Mr. Reston, who daily writes some of the best political comment coming out of Washington. He should not despair about his people's reading habits. Let him look northward across an invisible line and he will see a cheering spectacle. The Canadian people read far less than their neighbors about their own public affairs. The newspapers (desiring to stay in business) print less. The politicians say less for publication. Still, more is said and printed than the people will read.

AGAIN, MR. RESTON finds the American people are funny people: they don't vote. "They present themselves to the world as the most successful republic in history... but they don't go to the polls. They are critical of the British, the French, the Italians, the Belgians, the Dutch, the Indians, the Japanese and the Germans—all of whom have a higher percentage on election day than we have—but they don't vote."

"The farmers swear by the Republican Party but go fishing on election day. The industrial workers complain to their long-suffering wives about the Republican Administration but forget to register. The white-collar slaves proclaim their superiority, condemn their fate and whine about inflation and discrimination, but they don't vote."

TAKE heart, Mr. Reston. Glance northward and you will find, in British Columbia, for example, a people who apparently are writhing in an agony of indecision before election day, are disturbed in their innermost soul by certain grave reflections on their Government, are sick with worry about their future, yet barely five-eighths of them bother to go to the polls, more than half vote against the Government and the Government wins a smashing majority. So don't brag too much, Mr. Reston, about the funny people of the United States.

FINALLY Mr. Reston regards his people as funny because they don't care. "They are told that the Russians have slipped into the Middle East for the first time in 200 years, that the Chinese Communists are quietly building a vast empire in the Pacific and that the British and French empires are breaking up before their eyes, but they don't care. "They are told that the Secretary of State has outraged every major-league statesman in the world and is now working on the bush leaguers; they pay no attention. The President is portrayed to them as a man with nothing but a smile and a prayer; they won't believe it. The Democratic nominee is condemned as an egg-head with nothing but brains; they are not interested... they don't give a damn."

BUT far fewer damns, by statistical count, are given north of the border. A distressing spectacle, on both sides. Yet Mr. Reston is not quite ready to throw in the sponge of democracy. The American people, he concludes, don't listen, they don't read, they don't care. "But that's all right. They don't need to; never did need to. They get along. And think of the nonsense they miss every four years."

Well, I wish I could share Mr. Reston's light-heartedness. He says the American people don't need to listen, read or care because they get along. But where, if a foreigner may ask with respect, are they getting along to? Perhaps a foreigner has no right to ask when his own people listen, read and seem to care far less than their neighbors and are more interested in their neighbors' elections than in their own.

We would do well to take warning from Pat Walsh, named "Canada's Black Sheep," by the visiting Soviet minister G. M. Orlov. The business of showing communists everything we possess is madness.

We might well note in history, the prophet Isaiah's word to King Hezekiah, for just such foolishness in his day.

"All that is in mine house have they seen", the king boasted of the Babylonian's visit, "there is nothing among my treasures that I have not showed them."

Then said Isaiah to Hezekiah, "Hear the word of the Lord: Behold the days come, that all that is in thine house, and that which thy fathers have laid up in store until this day, shall be carried to Babylon; nothing shall be left, saith the Lord..." Of Mice and Men

In the Oct. 19 issue of the Victoria Daily Times appears a very familiar caption: "New Antibiotic Works Against Cancer in Mice." This is followed in the second paragraph of the item by an equally familiar statement: "They warned there is no evidence yet that it will be any help in human tumors."

Cancer in mice is clinically produced. Cancer in humans is not. Mankind and mice do not respond identically to treatment of this nature. Why then are these useless experiments continually performed? Are animal life and the taxpayers' money of no value?

Another caption in the same newspaper reads: "Darndest Disagreement Between Eight Cancer Experts." And in the words of Dr. George Crile Jr. of the Cleveland, Ohio, Clinic: "You might say that there is the darndest disagreement imaginable among doctors on the whole subject."

Experiments on animals appear to be misleading!

Power of Fusion

The rapid development of atomic power which intrigues and at times appals every thinking person, was a possibility that a generation ago only a few specialized scientists had visualized; yet the life of every man and woman in the world today depends upon control of the power within the atom—power which the new breed of nuclear physicists is learning to use and direct.

A power less predictable and potentially more dangerous even than the atom's is being released by the fusion of East and West, which modern communications and technology are making not only possible but unavoidable. The only means in sight for directing and using this power to avoid our destruction is United Nations.

Much has already been accomplished by United Nations in the eleven years of its existence; but to achieve more it needs more moral and physical support from individuals. In Canada the per capita contribution of each citizen has averaged out at about one cup of coffee per annum.

The U.N. Association in Canada exists to strengthen this support, which is vital to United Nations and therefore to all mankind. The local branch does what it can in such ways as the sale of U.N. Christmas cards; helping to organize U.N. Clubs in High Schools; and by arranging for speakers who will stimulate interest in better international understanding.

Colin, Crime, Republicanism

I read your editorial "Savagery on the Platform," discussing Mr. Colin Cameron's attack on the treatment of accused persons and prisoners.

I can see your point, but I question if Colin Cameron meant it in quite the way it was reported. However, since that speech, he will have more of the public in favor of what he said, and in addition you may agree that he was not far wrong when he mentioned a first offender getting 28 years.

I remember the case. What I did think at the time was that some member of the opposition should have stepped in and done some bullet shooting. That is what oppositions are for.

No wonder they lose out in an election when they don't do their defence work in all matters when they should. That is when Colin Cameron should have had his bullets well loaded into his gun, and had his supporters ready on the trigger too. What a chance you missed Colin!

Well here is a chance for him to take up something real serious, and in your case you as a newspaper can back him or even bring it forward yourself. We get so much in the papers these days which we are sick of—and I mean Royalty stuff, that it is time we either had a paper that has wakened up, or else a brand new paper on the market called Peoples Defence News. There is too much Tom-foolery about things most Canadians dislike, and the sooner Canada pulls away from the Commonwealth as they call it, the better it will be for all real true Canadians.

FROM WASHINGTON By WALTER LIPPMANN

A Solution for Poland

IT CAN be said of what is happening in Poland that it was sure to happen once external conditions permitted. I have been to Poland only once since the war, and that is some years back when Gomulka had not yet been purged and was still in office. It was perfectly evident then, even before the worst of the Stalinist tyranny began, that with rare exceptions the Communist Poles were like almost all other Poles, very anti-Russian and proudly Polish. Among the Westerners who have been to Poland since then I cannot remember meeting anyone who thought the Russians had had any success in winning over the allegiance of the Poles.

In fact, if sentiment alone had counted, what we call Titoism, the longing for national independence, has had all along even stronger roots in Poland than in Yugoslavia.

Natural Affection

The Yugoslavs, never having been under Russian rule, have felt their kinship with the Russian people and have had a great deal of natural affection. The Poles have a history of being partitioned and subjugated which for all practical purposes makes impossible any trust or affection in their relations with Russia.

Why then did the Yugoslavs assert their national independence of Moscow eight years earlier than have the Poles? In the last analysis, because Poland is occupied and surrounded on all sides by the Red Army, whereas Yugoslavia was not occupied and is not surrounded but has an open frontier with the West.

This leads us to ask why now the Poles have been able to assert an independence which they could not assert a few years earlier. The answer to that is that the great military stalemate which now prevails in the world has relaxed the tension and has gone far toward neutralizing military force.

War Improbable

Because the tension is so much relaxed, because there is such a general feeling that a world war is improbable, the totalitarian system inside of Russia and in the satellite orbit is harder and harder to maintain. For a totalitarian system needs the threat of an external enemy to sustain its suppression of liberty.

And because military power in its nuclear development is now so hideously dangerous, all the powers are afraid to use any military force, fearing that it might lead to a nuclear war.

This underlying condition in world affairs exists on both sides of the iron curtain. What is happening among the Soviet satellites in Eastern Europe is the counterpart of what is happening from Morocco to Indonesia. The Russians are deterred in dealing with Gomulka by the same ultimate considerations which deter the Western powers in their dealings with Nasser.

The stalemate in nuclear weapons has been spreading to all other weapons. For there is a growing conviction that were shooting to start in which the great powers were involved, even at second hand, they would probably be drawn into using nuclear weapons in the end.

If, as the latest news indicates, the Soviet Union will not try to crush the new Polish government, it is, of course, probable that the whole satellite empire will become Titoist. We must begin to think of what this is going to mean in world politics.

We must begin, I think, by taking fully into account the crucial importance of Poland in the relations between Russia and the Western world.

Vital Interest

We can never afford to forget that Poland lies between Germany and Russia. We must not forget that she has annexed much German territory. We must not forget that for Russia, be it Communist Russia or Czarist Russia, Poland is of vital military interest.

No Russian government will tolerate, if it can prevent it, the existence of an unfriendly Poland which has become part of the military system of the West.

We may expect that because of all this, Polish-Russian relations will come to a fork of the road. One way will lead to a reaffirmation of the military alliance, of which the core is a Russian guarantee, against Germany, of Poland's newly acquired territory.

The other way, which supposes Polish-Russian enmity, is the classic gambit of a Russian-German alliance based on the unification of Germany and the partition and domination of Poland.

Forks in the Road

The second way will not be possible while Adenauer is in power. But it must not be ruled out of our calculations.

It is to this fork in the road that we should address our minds, examining the possibilities of a statesmanlike solution that would safeguard the independence of Poland.

The key to such a solution would appear to be, on the one hand, to provide the Soviet Union with convincing guarantees that an independent Poland would not be a hostile military base, and, on the other hand, a settlement of the Polish-German frontier which both countries accept and ratify.

The most promising idea is still, it seems to me, that of a neutral belt, neutral in respect to military alliances, in Central and Eastern Europe which might extend from Scandinavia to the Balkans. This would make a respectable place for the former satellites, also for Austria, Yugoslavia and Greece, and not inconceivably, for a united Germany.

There are risks and complexities in such a multi-lateral project. But they may be smaller risks than the most likely alternative, which is a series of bi-lateral deals, especially between Germany and Russia.

Postal Leaflets To Specify Local Boundaries

Leaflets specifying district postal boundaries, aimed at reducing improperly addressed mail for the Saanich peninsula, will be distributed within a couple of weeks by the post office department.

The announcement was made here today by W. J. Mason, post office public relations officer, Vancouver, who tonight addresses the Junior Chamber of Commerce on postal practices.

"There is no postal designation for Saanich," he said. Mail is handled by specific post offices, such as in Royal Oak. The leaflets will go to Saanich householders and Victoria business firms.

Too often letters going to Saanich arrive with four-cent stamps, but as Saanich is outside the city a five-cent stamp is required.

"This causes aggravation when the householder must pay an additional two cents on letters from city business houses that haven't the postal areas properly broken down," he said. City postmaster R. F. Reid said improper addressing of letters for the peninsula caused delays in delivery.

Face Stiffer Fines

Increased penalties for trucks carrying overweight loads in unorganized territories and on arterial roads have been approved by the B.C. cabinet.

For the first offence there will be a fine of not less than $50; for the second not less than $100; for the third not less than $200.

Previously the law provided a fine not exceeding $500 and many offenders were penalized with a $10 fine.

The regulations do not apply in areas where there are local governments which have their own regulations.

City Sportsman Launches Drive To Block Logging on Watershed

A campaign to arouse public opinion against logging at Greater Victoria's water source at Sooke Lake watershed was launched today by Gordon R. Sword, well-known local sportsman and chairman of the conservation committee of the South Vancouver Island Rangers.

He turned over to the Times a brief opposing watershed logging. He said he had sent his brief to the Greater Victoria Water District board last January, but "it has never been made public."

It stresses the importance of forest "cover" in a watershed to the supply and quality of water being collected for domestic use.

His action in making his protest public followed a water board decision Tuesday to log four 25-acre patches of the Sooke Lake watershed next year on an experimental basis. Water commissioners say logging of old mature timber will provide additional and purer water.

Funds from logging would be used, first to pay for equipment, second to further capital expansion plans through the years. The sustained yield system could be carried on for 70 years, logging separate areas each year, the officials believe.

QUICK DEPLETION

"A vast percentage of the 20,000 acres is not covered with timber of present marketable value or future potential. To log four 25-acre patches each year in the Rithet Creek section would hurriedly deplete the entire watershed timber reserves," Mr. Sword protests.

He said experience of logging on the Goldstream watershed

has shown that where trees are cleared there is invitation to trespass. Recent tests there, he said, show higher bacteria content in Goldstream area water than in Sooke Lake area, because of this.

Also, the waters feeding Sooke Lake are filtered through a natural forest. Goldstream lakes are fed from slopes almost entirely barren of growth. Little water seeps into these lakes except at rainy periods and as the forest floor has no screening or holding cover, the snow disappears with flooding rapidly.

In the Sooke Lake area timber prevents trespass and lowers fire hazard. "If logging takes place on the Sooke Lake watershed an immediate fire hazard will be created."

"Sooke Lake water has been proven pure and adequate. Therefore there is no purpose in logging for the betterment of the water or its supply." He said 17,000,000 gallons of fresh water pass over the outlet dam of Sooke Lake each year as waste. Fresh water is fed into the lake even in the driest periods (due to the presence of the forests).

"On a watershed, the cover is of first consideration and not the amount of wood produced," he said.

He said there is a terrific difference in the rainfall marked in a logged-over area and a forest area. (Shawnigan Lake and Sooke Lake are only three to four miles apart. The 10-year average rainfall up to 1939 was 46 inches for the logged Shawnigan Lake area compared to 88 inches in the Sooke Lake area).

Mr. Sword pointed to the experience in North Vancouver where flood damage was laid to watershed logging.

Mr. Sword did agree that if logging must be undertaken on the watershed it should be done by the water district, so the entire profit of the operation could be gained by the district.

LOST FOR FOUR DAYS

Hair Tonic, Orange Kept Pilot Alive

SYDNEY (CP)—A pilot lost for four days in Northern Australia said a bottle of hair tonic and an orange saved his life.

The pilot, Roy Moffat, 32, crashed about 300 miles south of Darwin when the engine of his plane cut out. He was ferrying an Avro trainer from Darwin to Adelaide.

CRAZY WITH THIRST
Searchers found him sitting under a tree about 12 miles from the crashed plane. Like all people lost in Australia's far north he had become nearly crazy with thirst and had stripped off every stitch of clothing as he lay down to die. He was badly sunburned.

Moffat said later in Darwin hospital: "When I left my aircraft a bottle of hair tonic was all I had. 'Twelve hours later I was worried badly by thirst. I followed dozens of small water courses, but all were dusty and dry. So I drank half my hair tonic. 'Next day I started on a final attempt to reach the Sturt highway. I knew I would die soon unless I got water. I found some fresh jeep tracks—and an orange in the middle of them. The orange kept me alive until I was found."

TOLMIE PEAK VIEW SPOT COSTS JUMP

Blasting of rock to develop a parking space atop Mount Tolmie likely will cost closer to $3,000 than the original $3,000 estimate.

Saanich works superintendent Henry Bakkeny told Victoria-Saanich beaches and parks committee Wednesday more rock would have to be blasted than at first estimated by the Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group. Work could be completed by year's end, he said.

Project proponent Max Zabel has said he will underwrite the extra expense to avoid further delay.

Strong Fight Against Metro Parks

Victoria Saanich Beaches and Parks Committee adjourned without decision Wednesday on the question of a metropolitan parks board for Greater Victoria.

There was strong opposition to Alderman Don Smith's plan for an appointed long-term inter-municipal parks board.

He asked committee members to press their councils for a December referendum.

Another meeting will be held on the proposal next Wednesday.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow and Saanich Councillor T. J. O'Neill promised continued opposition. "We are getting too many boards," said Ald. Edgelow. "Administration would cost the people more money than we are getting now (for parks work). I doubt if a parks board could do more than this committee is doing, unless there was more money."

ELK LAKE DISGRACE

"We couldn't do less than we are doing now," said Ald. Smith. He said the committee only meets about once a year. "Elk Lake is a disgrace, without decent toilet or bathhouse facilities," Saanich councillor Eugene Diespecker said the proposal was ill-timed.

He said Saanich council is exploring possibilities of asking the electorate to approve spending up to one mill on parks development.

Sportsman Loses Bid For Higher Damages

An appeal of a leading B.C. sportsman for increased damages for a permanent knee injury suffered in a traffic accident was dismissed by the B.C. Court of Appeal Wednesday.

The appellant made the request to compensate for the loss of future enjoyment. Archie Earles Nelmes of Chilliwack, well-known steelhead fisherman and hunter, was appealing the Supreme Court judgment of Mr. Justice H. S. Wood awarding him $10,000 general damages.

The sportsman claimed this was not sufficient and he indicated that $40,000 damages would not be excessive for pain and suffering and for having to give up his recreations and hobbies.

Nelmes was injured when his car was in collision with that of Edwin Dennis Southwick on the Trans-Canada Highway on Dec. 8, 1953. He spent a year in hospital and lost $4,000 in wages alone. His knee cap had to be removed.

WORKED LONGER

Thomas Griffiths, counsel for Nelmes, said formerly a man could claim little damages for loss of future enjoyment in life because he worked 12 hours a day and seven days a week.

Now, he said, the average employee worked five days a week and could enjoy life with hobbies and recreation.

He argued that man had fought for years for a greater enjoyment of life and should

'Buildings' Growth Long-Range Project

No Immediate Threat to Property Owners In Southward Extension, Says Pennington

Southward expansion of the provincial government offices does not mean there is any threat to property owners in the James Bay area, R. A. Pennington, chairman of the Capital Improvement District Commission, said today.

"This is a long-range plan and the only immediate effect is that the city council will probably be asked to restrict zoning in the area to one and two-family units."

"There is no suggestion that property will be immediately expropriated in this area."

Mr. Pennington Wednesday placed the commission's recommendations for development of the area before Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, who will present these to the Cabinet.

Meeting Tuesday night, the commission rejected an alternative plan for expansion in an east-west direction along "Belleville."

"This plan was rejected when it was learned that parts of Government and Menzies would be blocked off and one-way traffic would be necessary on Government Street," Mr. Pennington said.

$10 MILLION

The southward plan offers a 50-year program involving an expenditure of $10,000,000 on construction and landscaping in the area.

It will cost $23,499 per acre for expropriation whereas the east-west plan would have meant purchase of land costing $43,879 per acre.

The area is bounded by Belleville, Michigan, Oswego and Menzies. In the recommended plan there is a block large area set aside as a fountain and stone-paved patio immediately behind the present legislative buildings.

Models of the plan show the government intends putting up at least 15 more major buildings in the precinct during the next 25 or 30 years.

"Final approval must come from the provincial government as we are operating under a statute," Mr. Pennington explained. "Our work on this development plan is completed. The government will have the final say."

6 OFFICERS TEACHING 12 ROOKIE POLICEMEN

Basic training classes for 12 rookie policemen of Victoria, Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay are now lectured by six instructors instead of one, Victoria police commission was told Wednesday.

Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer said a new training class was started Oct. 10 for seven Victoria officers, two from Esquimalt, two from Saanich and one from Oak Bay. Training period is three hours a day for five weeks.

In past training classes one instructor, usually former provincial police official Richard Harvey, has been in charge.

Under the new system, Mr. Harvey instructs criminal law and provincial statutes; Sgt. Brooke Douglass, traffic; Constable Lyle Sommers, juvenile problems; Deputy Chief Mercer, police work, discipline and tear gas; Detective Dave Donaldson, finger-printing, and Constable Joseph ("Nap") Bouchard, care and use of firearms.

Another course is expected in February.

TRIPLE DOSE OF TROTTER TROUBLE

There's trouble ahead for any opposing basketball club when this potent trio of Harlem Globetrotter forwards heads down the court. Bobby Milton, left, Herman Taylor, centre, and Ernie Wagner will be operating with only one ball when the Trotters meet the Hawaiian Surfriders at Central Junior High School Tuesday, but it's a cinch their hoop talents will keep the Hawaiians hopping and their ball-handling antics will keep the fans chuckling in their annual appearance.

Trotters Won't Recall But Fans Won't Forget

Current members of the Harlem Globetrotters basketball club which meets the Hawaiian Surfriders at Central Junior High School Tuesday night won't recall the occasion, but the Trotters once played an unfamiliar part in one of Victoria's most-remembered basketball dramas.

Through the bright years of basketball in Victoria when the Blue Ribbons and then the Dominoes were writing their names in the record books, the victories that brought Canadian titles to the city were undoubtedly the highlights. Yet, few of the fans who were jammed into the Victoria High School gymnasium have forgotten the night of Jan. 12, 1946.

During the previous decade, the Trotters had met a couple of close battles on their visits to Victoria but always managed to win and add to the reputation of near-invincibility that is still being enhanced as the colored court comedians swing into their 30th season of campaigning.

On that night they ran up against what was probably the greatest of all Victoria Domino teams and finished on the wrong end of a 57-44 score.

It wasn't one of the best Globetrotter teams that owner-coach Abe Saperstein ever sent out on a winter tour, but it was still a good one that included the starry trio of Duke Cumberland, Bernie Price and Piper Davis.

It might have been closer if husky Zach Clayton, sidelined with a pair of cracked ribs, had been able to get into action with the Trotters. But it would probably have taken more than Clayton's deadly long shots to keep the Victorians from picking up the marbles.

There was no time for their usual comedy routine that night as the Globetrotters battled grimly to avert defeat. They were only two points back, at 19-17, starting the second half, but gradually wilted under the relentless Domino running attack.

Norm Baker, who went on to greater glory and the honor of being named Canada's best basketball player of the half century, was the trigger man for the Domino thrusts. Enjoying one of his sensational nights, the blond bomber made a mockery of the Trotter defence as he rattled in shots from all angles to wind up with 33 points.

While Baker took care of most of the scoring he had some potent two-way support from his mates. Porky Andrews, the play-making artist who had won fame at the University of Oregon, flipped in seven points and sticky-fingered Chuck Chapman, anchor man on Victoria's championship teams, tossed in five.

Smooth-working Busher Jackson added five points to the total and Doug Peden managed eight. Also sharing in the triumph were Hank Rowe, Ian McKeachie, Rookie Wright, George Straith and manager Dave Nicol, all members of former dominion championship clubs.

Joined later in the season by Art Chapman, the Dominoes swept through all opposition, and climaxed the season by winning the Canadian title at Montreal.

That was the last national crown for the city. Andrews, Baker, Art Chapman and Peden all stepped into professional ranks with the Vancouver Hornets the following season. The other players split up and Victoria's basketball star faded.

Victoria has been without a senior "A" club for the past two seasons and it appears it will be a long time before the fans see another hoop squad start out on the trail of national honors.

No, the Trotters won't remember that night in 1946, but there'll be some nostalgic fans sitting in the stands Tuesday who will.

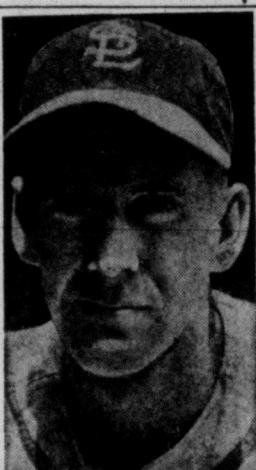

Barbados Dismissed In Test Cricket

GEORGETOWN, B.C. (AP) — British Guiana dismissed Barbados in the cricket test trial Wednesday for 211-370 behind the home team's total. They forced the follow on and by close of play took four Barbados second-innings wickets for 67.

Lance Gibbs and Madray each took four Barbados first-innings wickets.

The quadrangular test trials end today.

UNITED BEATS CITY — MANCHESTER, England (Reuters) — Manchester United, the English Football League champions, beat Manchester City, the English Cup holder, 1-0, here Wednesday night to win the football association charity shield.

MARTY MARION

Marion Quits White Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — Marty Marion today resigned as field manager of Chicago White Sox. Marion, whose contract extended through 1957, said he resigned "after considerable thought" because he felt the White Sox should have made a better 1956 showing.

The Sox finished third, 12 games behind the pennant-winning New York Yankees in the American League race and three games behind the second-place Cleveland Indians.

"I feel I should step aside so the White Sox will be free to appoint a new manager," Marion said.

FOURTH TO QUIT

Marion was the fourth big league manager to leave since the close of the 1956 season. The others were Al Lopez of Cleveland, Buck Harris of Detroit, and Stan Hack of Chicago Cubs.

Charley Grimm was replaced by Fred Haney as the Milwaukee manager in mid-June.

Jack Tighe took over for Harris and Bob Scheffing for Hack. The Cleveland job is still open with Leo Durocher and Kerby Farrall among those considered.

Lorraine Swims To World Record

MELBOURNE (AP) — Lorraine Crapp swam a sensational world record time of one minute, 24 seconds in the women's 100 metre free-style event today at the Australian Olympic swimming trials.

Her swim slashed 8 seconds off the world record she set in Sydney last Saturday night.

Dawn Fraser was second in 1:03.1 seconds, also bettering Lorraine's Saturday night time of 1:03.2. The recognized world record is 1:03.4, set by Cocky Gastelars of Holland.

While Lomas drive and deliver in their win Saturday has earned them the title of "Cinderella team," youthful coach Denny Veitch has welded a potent passing attack and a brilliant young running halfback into an offense that will give the Cadets plenty of trouble.

Object of the mainland plaudits is 20-year-old, 5' 8", 175-pound Art Shannon, a reckless galloping back who scored seven touchdowns during the season, even though missing half his club's games because of a pulled thigh muscle.

He was named Most Valuable Player in the league, and along

Habs Did the Hooking; Rangers Netted Catch

Penalty Shot Wins Game For Blues

By The Canadian Press

Doug Harvey's wayward stick cost Montreal Canadiens a National Hockey League game Wednesday night at New York.

The 31-year-old Montreal defenceman hooked Dean Prentice from behind when the New York Ranger forward was in the clear. The infraction was duly noticed by officials and Rangers scored on a rarely-seen penalty shot that gave them a 3-2 victory.

It was the only game of the night and victory sent Rangers into a first-place tie with Detroit Red Wings.

Rangers did all their scoring in the first period. The deciding goal came on the penalty shot with Rangers ahead 2-1. Left winger Danny Lewicki, an 18-goal man last season, faked goaltender Gerry McNeil to the left side, then drove the puck into the right corner at 14:37.

Canadiens got one goal early in the second period and that ended the scoring.

ROCKET'S 461ST GOAL

Other Ranger scorers were defencemen Bill Gadsby and Bronco Horvath. Maurice Rocket Richard and Jean Beliveau tallied for the Montrealers.

For the Rocket, it was his 461st goal in NHL season competition. It increased his points total to 800. Both are league records. Including playoff games, Richard has 523 goals in 15 years in the NHL.

The clean but rough game started ominously as Ranger fans started a chant of "get Beliveau" during the first period.

Ranger coach Phil Watson had claimed previously that Beliveau played "dirty hockey" in a New York-Canadiens game at Montreal last Saturday. Beliveau got in a fight with forward Red Sullivan, who suffered a deep cut which required four stitches.

After the game Watson told reporters that he had said Rangers were out to "get Beliveau" but "I shouldn't have said it." He said his team wasn't out to get the Montreal star centre but wanted only to win the game.

TWO STARS OUT

Coach Toe Blake of Montreal could not be reached for comment.

After three penalties in the first six minutes, both teams—and the fans—settled down to some fast, hard-hitting hockey. Canadiens played without two of their stars. Henri Richard, brother of Maurice, missed because of torn knee ligaments, and All-Star NHL goalie Jacques Plante couldn't play because of a bronchial infection.

He was replaced by 30-year-old Gerry McNeil, recalled Tuesday from Montreal Canadiens' Quebec Hockey League farm club.

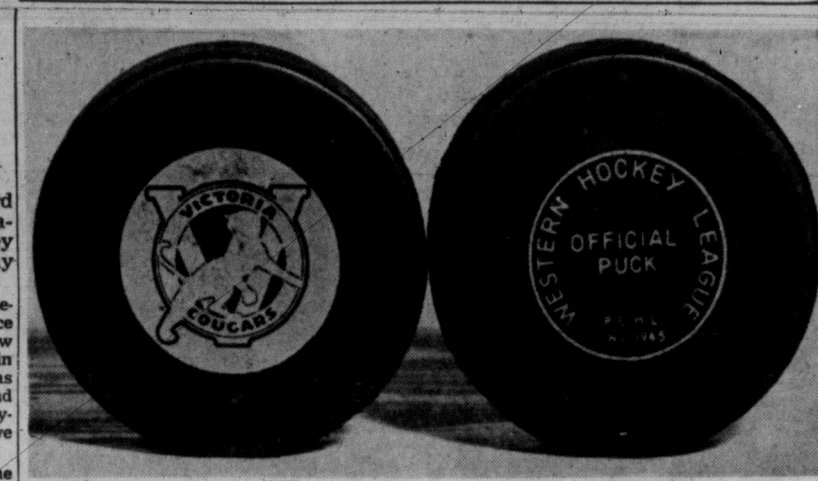

PACES FLYERS

SPOKANE (CP) — Lorne Nadeau scored three goals to lead Spokane Flyers to a 7-2 win over Nelson Maple Leafs Wednesday night in a Western International Hockey League game before 3,000 fans.

Fraser, considered to be Vic High's main threat in the cross-country field this year, completed the three-mile course in 13:41.4 to lead second-place Guy Price of House III by 30 seconds.

In third spot was Ed Pomeroy, also of House III, who ran the distance in 14:52.

Under the reverse system of scoring that gives one point for a first-place finish, two points for second-place, and three points for third, progres-

WHAT'S THE SCORE? BY Denny Boyd

Sifting the Ashes...

The budding National Hockey League career of Jack Bionda may have been snipped off two weeks ago when the former Victoria Shamrock lacrosse star was put out of action while playing for Boston in a game against New York Rangers. Bill Gadsby, Ranger defenceman, fired a rocket shot from the blue line and Bionda, in trying to block the puck, suffered an ankle fracture that will idle him for six weeks.

Annis Stukus will address a Vancouver Island school teachers' convention in Nanaimo Friday night on a topic that is dear to our heart: Football in High Schools.

Local mothers who keep a sharp eye on grocery shelves this week will find an advertising idea aimed at letting their kids see free Cougar games.

Ken Higgs injured a finger Saturday night in B.C. Lions' game with Saskatchewan Roughriders. Philopie about his lack of playing this season, Ken explained the accident away with "I fell off the bench."

The Victoria Shamrocks sent Stew Smith Jr. a cheque for $100 to help cover the costs of a broken ankle Stew suffered when the Junior Shamrocks played the Shamrock Old-Timers last summer.

Jack Patrick, Oak Bay Drake coach, figures Royal Roads can clobber Vancouver Meralomas in the B.C. junior football final Saturday. He should know, having coached two Vancouver clubs to Canadian junior titles.

Oak Bay junior gridder, too, will concede Royal Roads the B.C. title. In two games between the two clubs, Royal Roads outscored Oak Bay, 109-0.

Several members of the Calgary Stamps lost their breakfasts Monday on the boat trip from the mainland. And there were some green faces among the Cougar rookies that did not stem from jealousy.

Spencer Simmonds and Jackie Wilson have joined Don Hamilton in Melville, making it three products of the local minor leagues who have hooked up with the Millionaires. All three were recommended by local scout Tom Drysdale.

Tom, incidentally, recommends roller skating for local minor-leaguers who can't get enough ice time, a plan that New York Rangers' Muzz Patrick heartily endorses.

They say Tiger Kozak was worth the price of admission at Empire Stadium Saturday night. Fully dressed in street clothes, including a pearl-gray fedora, Tiger was running downfield with the Saskatchewan regulars, catching passes in pre-game warm-up.

Cougars' recent safari through the prairies won them favorable ink in Calgary, Winnipeg and Edmonton papers. Scribes in those cities, who came to dread the kiddy-bar-the-door tactics coached by Billy Reay and Eddie Olson, did happy flip-overs at Colin Kilburn's wide-open style.

Victoria High Drubs College

Victoria High School made it out bid ruined when Jack Sanderson and John Elliott both scored for the Vikings.

Rutherford's second goal and markers by Graeme Howard and Dick Austin completed the scoring for the winners.

Other games in the inter-high school circuit were cancelled because of soggy playing fields.

Cinderella Lomas to Point Magic Wand at Royal Roads

Royal Roads, which has had things pretty well its own way in the Victoria Junior Canadian Football League this season, will be up against a team which has had very little of anything, when it meets Vancouver Meralomas Saturday at Macdonald Park in the B.C. junior final.

Meralomas defeated Blue Bombers, 4-1, Saturday, to win the Vancouver Big Four championship. It was Meralomas' first league championship in 10 years and the first time they had reached the playoffs in five years.

For the Bombers, it was only their second time they had lost the championship since 1945.

With hard-charging Ken Sherlock, will spearhead Veitch's ground offensive against Royal Roads.

Providing thorough air cover will be quarterback Don Dell and his accurate throwing arm. Rated the best passer in the Big Four, Dell has outstanding ends Ted Bryan and Lavern Lastrum on the re-sieving ends of his tosses.

Dell took over the quarterbacking from Sherlock during the league playoffs and is expected to continue against the Cadets.

A Tummy Ache With a Moral

One of the most colorful figures in the world of golf was Walter Hagen. Now, with the aid of Margaret Beaton Hagen, he has written his amazing life story. Because of world-wide popularity and the fact that he played in the city, the Times takes pleasure in presenting the Hagen's biography.

CHAPTER V

I worked harder than I'd worked in my life to get ready for the 1914 Open in Chicago. I got my fancy golf outfit cleaned and ready with only one change, the white buckskin shoes with the red rubber soles. I'd slid all over the course at Brookline in the wet weather. Funny thing was that I'd played golf in good, sunny weather until I went to Brookline. Now I bought a pair of hobnailed shoes for the 1914 Open. And I played in hobnailed shoes from that time on.

Dutch Leonard and I took the day coach to Chicago. We stopped at the old Great Northern Hotel. The night before the tournament started we blew ourselves to dinner at the best restaurant we could find. I forgot the name, but the display window housed a huge red lobster.

I'd never tasted lobster, so that's what we ordered, lobsters and oysters. We ate plenty. Then we took in a movie. Before the picture was over, my stomach aches began. By the time we reached the hotel I was howling in agony.

Hagen

Dutch called the house physician about midnight and he gave me some pills. I continued to hold my head, rub my stomach and howl. He called the doctor again in the early morning and still I had no relief. I continued to be nauseated and retching with stomach pains.

By dawn I was so weak I could scarcely stand. I told Dutch I didn't see how I was going to play a round of golf for a week, much less compete in a championship tournament that day. He finally persuaded me to ride out to the club and see how I felt by starting time.

In the locker room I changed to my fancy outfit and staggered out to the practice field to hit some shots. "It hurt me to take a full swing. Both my head and my stomach were throbbing with pain and my body was sore all over. I hit a hundred or more balls and took two more aspirin. Funny thing, but my headache was gone."

I changed to street clothes and went out in front of the clubhouse to look at the scoreboard. Listening to the gallery, hearing them talk about my breaking the course record, led me to believe I was strokes ahead of anyone else.

I was sure my 68 would stick up like a mountain peak over all the others. I just wanted to give myself the satisfaction of seeing how far ahead I was. I felt wonderful. At least I did until I looked at the scoreboard. For breathing down my neck with a 69 was Francis Ouimet, defending champion since his sensational victory over Vardon and Ray at Brookline.

I stuck to regular food like steak and potatoes for the rest of the tournament. And my game stayed hot. I was never headed; I led all the way. Ouimet kept the pressure on, but after my final round I had posted a score of 290. That 290 equalled the lowest score ever made up to that year in the United States Open history. George Sargent, a wonderful golfer, had shot that score in 1909, playing the Open at the Englewood Country Club.

Considering my win at Midlothian in relation to the showing I had made at Brookline the year before, one fact impressed me. My mind had been so occupied with the pains in my stomach and head I had had no thought of worry about each shot I made. Even after that first day, I was so spent from physical weakness that I concerned myself chiefly with getting around the course and just taking my strokes, good or bad, as they came. I decided then that mental and physical relaxation during competition was the most valuable asset any golfer could possess. Concerntrate on playing the best you can on each shot... if it's a good one, that's fine. If it's bad, forget it. I expected to make so many bad ones anyway. I had to recognize that fact and aim to get the good ones where they counted most.

Bums Finally Find Power

SENDAI, Japan (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers finally gave Japanese pitchers a sample of their hitting power Wednesday, smothering Kanto All-Stars 8-0 behind five-hit pitching by Fred Kipp and Ralph Branca. It was the biggest Dodger batting show since the second game of the world series.

A crowd of 30,000 fans watched in a drizzle while Brooks won their second straight shut-out for a 3-2 record in their 20-game barnstorming tour.

Kipp, a knuckleball pitcher called up by Dodgers in late season from the Montreal farm club, struck out six in the first seven innings. Branca worked the eighth and ninth.

NEWCOMBE WORTH MORE THAN 300 G's TO BUMS

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (UP)—E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi said today that the Brooklyn Dodgers have turned down two $300,000 offers for pitcher Don Newcombe.

Bavasi, who is one of the Dodgers' vice-presidents and who is "minding the store" while most of the front-office brass is with the team in Japan, refused to disclose who made the offers.

All I can say is we turned down a $300,000 offer before the world series and another one after it," Bavasi said.

Newcombe compiled a 27-7 record during the National League season but was kayoed in two series starts against the New York Yankees.

DUROCHER TO RETURN?

Hope of Revenge May Tempt Leo

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (UP)—Leo Durocher flirted today with the idea that he could cap his career as the man who broke the New York Yankees' domination of the American League.

That possibility is a key, although hitherto undisclosed, factor in Durocher's decision whether to return to baseball as manager of the Cleveland Indians, it was learned today. The same source also pointed out that "Leo's friendship for Hank Greenberg is genuine" and will be an important factor.

"Durocher wants a lot of money and he's going to insist on owning stock, make no mistake about that," the source said. "But don't forget he's never beaten the Yankees. Doing so as manager of the Indians would be the climax of his career. And there's nobody he'd rather do it for than Greenberg."

LAST CHANCE

Durocher started his major league career with the Yankees in 1928 but they let him go on waivers after the 1929 season. Ever since—even when he was "top man" in the National League—Leo has yearned to return in triumph to Yankee Stadium. Taking a job as manager of the Indians could afford Durocher a last opportunity to realize that goal.

Durocher, now a $50,000-a-year executive with the National Broadcasting Company, admitted Wednesday that he has talked with Greenberg about the vacant managerial post with the Indians. He insisted, however, that he would return to managing only if offered "a piece of a club."

Durocher also confirmed that Greenberg planned a trip to Hollywood to discuss the matter and added: "Hank and I have been friends for 25 years, and I don't see any reason why if Mr. Greenberg comes to Hollywood I shouldn't visit and talk with him."

VANCOUVER (CP)

Wally Ziemba, who says he has been fired as line coach of British Columbia Lions but can't get a club official to admit it, will still scout for players for the Western Interprovincial Football Union team.

Ziemba said Wednesday he had been let go by the club, which wound up its WIFU season in fourth place. Neither team president Don Mackenzie nor head coach Clem Crowe would confirm it.

Indications were that the announcement stemmed from a conversation Tuesday between Crowe and Ziemba.

Crowe said he told the former Notre Dame, Iowa and Ottawa assistant that "there might be changes which could include you."

Nov. 30 is the date when the contracts of the coaching staff expire.

TO SWITCH LINDSKOG

Crowe said he had the same conversation with backfield coach Vic Lindskog, now slated for the line coach job.

Although he does not expect his contract to be renewed Nov. 30, Ziemba expects to scout for Lions in the U.S. mid-west after he leaves for home in Indiana.

"I wish somebody would make a statement before I leave," he said. "I also wish somebody would admit I'm through."

"I want to leave here with good feeling. I don't want to hurt anybody."

"I'm not being a scapegoat for anyone," he said. Ziemba said he knew he would not have any difficulty finding a coaching job.

Import Trend 'Laziness'

TORONTO (BUP)—Bill Earley, recently deposed by the Toronto Argonaut Football Club as assistant coach and publicity director, says a request by Canadian coaches for more imports "was pure laziness."

"Imports are easier to work with because they've had more schooling and experience in football fundamentals," Earley urged spending more money on home talent and said "it would cost about $15,000 for two extra imports. Wouldn't it be better to spend that money on farm teams to help produce better Canadian players?"

Earley, who left early today for South Bend, Ind., where he lived when he was backfield coach for Notre Dame, backed away from his advertised subject, "what's the matter with the Argos?"

"I guess I got fired for trying to answer that question, so the less said the better," he said with a grin.

MIXED CEMENT AS BOY

Juba, Ukrainian Scion, Wins 'Peg Mayoralty

WINNIPEG (CP) — Stephen Juba, 42-year-old wholesale hardware distributor, became the second mayor of Ukrainian descent in Western Canada when he defeated George Sharpe in civic elections Wednesday. It was his third try.

The other Ukrainian-Canadian mayor in the west is Edmonton's William Hawrelak. Mr. Juba is also Independent member of the Manitoba legislature for Winnipeg centre.

He started his climb to the mayor's office from a cement-mixing job after leaving school at grade 10. He worked through plastering and carpentry and founded a builders' company before he was 21.

It collapsed in the depression and Mr. Juba lived in a broken-down shack while working as a clerk and pots-and-pans salesman to pay back his debts. His health kept him out of service during the war but in the post-war period he started the successful Keystone Supply Co., which sells everything from hand towels to television sets. In 1949 he ran in a federal election but was defeated. He ran for Winnipeg mayor in 1952 with a program favoring more liberal liquor laws but again met defeat.

The next year he was elected to the provincial legislature and in 1954 ran second in a three-way mayoralty race in Winnipeg which Mr. Sharpe won.

Corruption Rampant in Korea, Average Yearly Income $74

By PETER MURRAY

The war in Korea is long over, but the slow and costly process of rebuilding the stricken peninsula is far from ended.

Some aspects of the rehabilitation work being done and the reasons it is necessary were stated in an interview here by Geoffrey Hemingway, director of a Quakers' hospital project for the last 2½ years.

For instance:

There are 50,000 orphans in Korea.

Housing is critically inadequate and many families live in hovels made from cardboard boxes and flattened tin cans.

Average income in the country is $74 yearly.

The government doesn't have enough revenue to support an adequate civil service and 31,000 government employees will be laid off this month so that others may get a small salary increase.

Corruption is widespread, from the highest government officials down to roaming orphan gangs.

Most young Koreans seek only an opportunity to get out of the country.

Eighty per cent of the population is engaged in agriculture and unemployment is widespread.

Emphasis of the Quaker hospital unit at the west coast port of Kunsan is on self-help, Mr. Hemingway said.

A nurses' aide training program has proved successful, he said. Outside the hospital, destitute persons are helped and encouraged toward self-sufficiency.

Hand-outs are avoided in favor of loans.

Piglets and chickens are distributed to needy widows, who repay the unit from subsequent litters and flocks for further distribution.

"The pigs have proved more of a success," Mr. Hemingway said, "because the chickens wander about too much and are easy to steal."

Hospital treatment is sometimes made difficult because, in line with Asian custom, relatives of patients come to hospital with them and set up house-keeping in the wards.

In some ways this proves an advantage, because the relatives take over the duties of nurses by feeding and caring for patients.

NO POLICE STATE

Turning to politics, Mr. Hemingway said there has been a lot of "loose talk" that South Korean president Syngman Rhee is a dictator and the country a police state.

"I don't agree with that," he said. "The police are sometimes rough with the opposition but at least there is an opposition, which is quite vocal and has its own newspapers."

"In fact, the government is so

HOW TO GET A JOB

I was out in the back yard, machine-gunning acorns in every direction, with my rotary mower, when this elderly Chinese came around...

"Before... long time... I work here," he said.

"No... I don't need gardener," by Maurice Hamer I say, "got this machine easy to cut lawn... mulch up leaves... you see," so I pulled the cord and shot the leaves out, but he wasn't impressed, all he said, "I work here before... long time... Captain Jones... you sabby him?" "No... I no sabby Capt... I not need gardener... place not too big... I O.K... sorry... thank you." "You got fork?" "Yeah... in shed"... you got trowel... I fix 'em... all velly nice."

"No Jim... I NO need gardener... I fix O.K... good-bye," and I started shooting acorns again. When I looked around, he was down on his knees, and he say, "trowel not velly good... you got new one eh?"...

"I've been counted out in my biggest fight," said Cockell. "I'm going to get a divorce."

He said he will ask custody of their two small sons.

WIFE LEAVES HIM

Don Cockell 'Counted Out'

SEVENOAKS, Eng. (AP) — The pretty wife of Don Cockell, former British heavyweight boxing champion, said Wednesday night she is leaving him for a handsome ex-seaman.

Cockell, who lasted nine rounds with Rocky Marciano in San Francisco in 1955, and the sailor, Welshman Taffy Clark, brawled over Mrs. Cockell's affections Tuesday night in a local saloon. Neither was injured.

Mrs. Cockell, 28, said she met Clark at a dance two months ago. "I've told Don I'm not going back to him," she informed reporters.

"I've been counted out in my biggest fight," said Cockell. "I'm going to get a divorce."

He said he will ask custody of their two small sons.

Norway Protests Proposed U.S. Tariff Boost on Fillets

WASHINGTON (AP) — Norway protested to the United States this week against a Tariff Commission recommendation for a 50 per cent increase in duties on imports of groundfish fillets.

Norway exports $800,000 worth of groundfish fillets annually to the United States. Denmark exports about $1,000,000 worth.

Canada, which ships the biggest amount of fish fillets, lodged a protest similar to Norway's last week.

President Eisenhower, who has the right to reverse the tariff commission recommendation, forwarded to him Oct. 12, has 60 days in which to act.

Hiker's Death Due To Exposure, Not Fall

NORTH VANCOUVER, B.C. (CP)—A coroner's jury was told here that Gordon Macfarlane, 27-year-old hiker, died of exposure, rather than from drowning or a fall.

Robert Duncan, 23, and Alick Patterson, 24, who accompanied Macfarlane on the hike, were saved. Duncan reached safety two days after they were lost and Patterson was rescued after spending six nights on the mountain.

LOSES JOB, SLAYS FOUR IN LOVE SPAT

TOKYO (AP) — A former police officer stabbed his wife and three small children to death and wounded another child and his wife's lover with a fish knife Wednesday night. Police said Ko Miyuchi, 42, who lost his job because someone stole his pistol, went berserk in jealousy over his 32-year-old wife's love affair with a young factory worker.

Canada Urged To Assume DEW Control

CALGARY (CP)—K. R. Patrick, president of Canadian Aviation Electronics, Ltd., says Canada should assume full control of the Distant Early Warning (DEW) line.

U.S. ELECTIONS

Touch-Go In Vital New York

(This is the sixth and last of a series of election campaign summaries by AP political reporters who have been surveying sentiment in key states across the U.S.)

NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP) — President Eisenhower, a smash winner in New York state four years ago, appears to be running ahead of Adlai Stevenson. Samplings of opinion, straw votes and the analyses of leaders in both parties all point the same way.

The predominantly Republican upstate still looks strong for Eisenhower. Stevenson's aides believe he will increase his 1952 plurality in Democratic New York City. But they are not yet claiming he will win the state's 45 electoral votes, biggest bloc in the country.

The hopes of Stevenson's campaign strategists of carrying New York are described by Associated Press reporter Jack Bell as "not strong." Bell is travelling with Stevenson.

MASSACHUSETTS

BOSTON (AP) — The presidential race in Massachusetts, at this late stage, looks like a stride-for-stride contest going right down to the wire.

Doorbell ringing indicates that if there is an edge today, President Eisenhower has it.

A key to the uncertainty lies in this typical comment from a Haverhill housewife, Mrs. Ernest Valente: "I'm an independent. I like Mr. Eisenhower but I don't believe in voting just for personalities. I haven't decided."

Over and over again, in talking with people across the state, these two words "independent" and "undecided" crop up. The largest single group of voters in Massachusetts—usually estimated at about 40 per cent of the total—falls in the category of independents.

They swung to Eisenhower in 1952 when he won Massachusetts by nearly 209,000 votes. Four years earlier, President Truman defeated Governor Thomas E. Dewey by 242,000 in a smaller total vote.

WISCONSIN

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Wisconsin apparently remains unshakably Republican and, unless the advance signs are all wrong, it will go for President Eisenhower again on Nov. 6.

ADLAIS OUT

Even leading Democrats in the state say so. They have all but written off the chances of Adlai E. Stevenson of carrying Wisconsin and its 12 electoral votes.

That doesn't mean the Democrats aren't pulling up. Republican policies concede that disgruntled farmers will cost Eisenhower votes.

Speaking of Anniversaries --This Husband 'Remembered'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Harry Johnson's 20th wedding anniversary "card" to his wife may have set a world's record for size.

Johnson rented a billboard 27 feet long and 12 feet high. On it he put a huge photo of himself saluting and these words: "To a wonderful wife who has borne with me for 20 years."

Johnson expects the billboard will cost him $700.

PATERSON, N.J. (AP)—Three patrol cars joined in a wild chase for 3½ miles through downtown streets here in pursuit of a runaway horse.

The horse is a 17-year-old nag named Silver and police in one of the patrol cars said they were doing 45 miles an hour at one point but couldn't catch him. Citation set a world's record for the mile. In 1950 doing about 38½ miles an hour.

Silver eluded two police cars but a third caught up to him.

NEW YORK (AP)—A new $11,000,000 jail here has bars painted in pastel colors to cheer up the prisoners.

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Traffic Officer W.L. Williams was minding his own business writing parking tickets for autos in front of an office building when—zing!—he was hit by a flying missile.

Furious, but unable to locate the source of the flying missile, he called in another policeman to set a trap.

Setting himself up as a target again, Williams caught another barrage. But fellow officer R. L. Potter spotted two men flipping the staples from a window with rubber bands. The pair was arrested and fined $12 each.

McEwen to Try Again for Seat On City Council

A city restaurant operator who ran for mayor, council and police commission last year will try again this year for a Victoria council seat.

Restaurant owner Elmer D. McEwen is the second announced candidate for one of four seats to be decided December 14.

In the 1953 election he announced candidacy for mayor but withdrew when his property qualifications were in doubt. He was unsuccessful in bids for police commission and council.

Mr. McEwen is 33 and of Scottish ancestry. He managed a dairy in Ontario before the war, served in the army, managed a department store in Camrose, Alta., before coming here in 1947. He was active in organization of the Social Credit party in this area and ran unsuccessfully in the 1952 provincial election.

Ald. Austin Curtis announced last week he will seek another two-year term on council.

Cabinet Rejects $500,000 Claim For Damages by Cowichan Logger

A man who expressed his disapproval of the B.C. government by dumping a huge unguai logger's yarder outside the Legislative Buildings, learned today his petition to claim damages from the government had been rejected.

James R. Gillespie, president of a small Cowichan Lake logging company, dumped the yarder outside the buildings last June, and left it there for four hours in protest against the government's handling of forest management licences.

"We intend to carry on the fight for our rights," Mr. Gillespie said today. "We have another course of action but I cannot discuss it at the moment."

"Our business at Cowichan Lake has been idle now for 18 months but we are willing to spend our last dollar fighting for what is ours."

He and his partner Charles F. DeLore claimed damages after alleging they had not been allowed to cut 30 per cent of timber on crown lands forming part of forest management licence No. 22 held by B.C. Forest Products Ltd. at Port Renfrew.

Recently they petitioned the government seeking up to $500,000 damages for alleged loss of logging rights.

The petition claimed that under the forest management licence system private operators must be given the right to cut 30 per cent of the timber in a licensed area.

As an alternative it asked for damages against the government for breach of contract "not to exceed $500,000."

NO CAUSE
Gillespie was informed that the provincial cabinet had rejected the petition because it "discloses no cause of action against Her Majesty in right of the province."

The cabinet's rejection was the sequel to months of active propaganda by Gillespie.

In newspaper advertisements, public speeches and radio broadcasts he repeatedly claimed that the small logger was not getting a fair deal under the government's forest management licence system.

He said his company had not logged for more than a year because of a forest management licence granted 16 months before to B.C. Forest Products Ltd.

I'm Most Enthusiastic . . . about the sheer magic of the three Lanolin Plus Hair Care Products. I've used them steadily for more than a year now and know how much they've done for me and for my daughter. Can't give you a better tribute than that, can I? Do try all three of these wonderful LANOLIN PLUS HAIR PREPARATIONS yourself—and share my enthusiasm. Lanolin Plus Shampoo has the lanolin right in the shampoo—so it gently conditions your hair as it cleanses. Lanolin Plus Creme Rinse highlights the beauty of your hair . . . and the special Lanolin Plus formula, called, simply, "For the Hair"—gives your hair a fine alluring life and sparkle that will delight you. Popular prices, at better drug stores.

Something New . . . has been added to the gymnasium my husband has created atop Sir Isaac's cage. Climaxing the ladders, and bells, and mirrors, is a lovely colored ball on which our lovely budgie sits to coax or scold us . . . His health and good spirits are the result of BROCK'S NATURAL FEEDING DIET . . . for it contains all the food elements he needs. Budgies are endlessly entertaining and lovable . . . are wonderful for children . . . for shut-ins, too. They're ideal for family enjoyment. Sir Isaac has been a continuous delight. Never the slightest trouble—and Brock's Natural Feeding Diet has kept him that way!

It Looks So Good! Part of the satisfaction in enjoying the famed RED RIVER CEREAL, lies in the delicate blending of its three grains . . . cracked wheat, rye and flax. You can see how good it looks—none of that mushiness most of us dislike in a hot cereal—but a delicately flavored taste of delight that we all enjoy. This Fall, make sure that your family gets the right energy and protective food they need to carry them through their busy-busy days. Bless them—they need the best breakfast cereal you can give them. That's Red River Cereal, seems to me. Cooks quickly of course. Costs only two cents a serving, too!

The Best Things In Life . . . they say, are free. Often, too, the best food values lie in the simplest things—like adding a pat of sunny-sweet BLUE BONNET MARGARINE to your hot biscuits—those baked potatoes—and the fresh vegetables we all enjoy. Essential minerals and vitamins are added to every pound of Blue Bonnet Margarine—made from pasteurized skim milk. Many thousands of us believe that it is the most delicious margarine we can buy—we know what flaky pastry, feather-light cakes and crispy-crispy cookies it makes. Won't you try it yourself—and see why we're all so keen on it? Must be a good reason!

They're Crisp . . . smooth textured . . . and so satisfyingly flavored! Talking about the new biscuit sensation—McCORMICK'S CINNAMON CRISPS! All of us know that biscuits by this famous firm are always something very special—and, believe me, these Cinnamon Crisps are really something to talk about. Serve them for your TV snacks—tuck them in the children's lunch—enjoy some with your mid-morning coffee—always keep a package on hand so that you and yours can have the enjoyment of these delicious biscuits. McCormick's wraps them in three individually sealed inner wraps so that they will stay extra crisp. Try them yourself—this week!

Nova Scotians to Elect 6 More MLAs Tuesday

HALIFAX (CP)—Nova Scotians will elect six more members to the Legislature Oct. 30 than they did in the last general election in 1953.

A 1955 redistribution of constituencies, based on the 1951 census, has boosted the number of assembly seats to 43 from 37.

Three new seats are in the fast-growing Halifax and Sydney suburban areas. Two are in the Annapolis Valley and one in the Lunenburg area.

The mushrooming town of Dartmouth and its environs on the east side of Halifax harbor comprise the new riding of Halifax County-Dartmouth, carved out of Halifax East constituency, formerly the largest in the province.

A new Halifax northwest riding takes in Bedford, Sackville, Waverley and other growing suburbs formerly included in Halifax West.

The Sydney industrial area gets a new member from Cape Breton Nova, created from parts of Cape Breton South and Cape Breton Centre.

In the Annapolis Valley farming and fruit-growing belt the two member Kings constituency has been split into Kings North, South and West, single-member ridings.

Adjoining Annapolis County, Premier Hicks' old seat, has picked up a second member and is divided into Annapolis East and West.

On the South Shore West of Halifax the former two-member constituency of Lunenburg now returns three members—one each from Lunenburg East, Centre and West.

As a result of these changes Halifax County will have a seven-member representation in the house, industrial Cape Breton County six.

Kings and Lunenburg join Cumberland and Pictou Counties in electing three members. Colchester, Inverness, Annapolis, Hants, Digby and Yarmouth counties have two representatives.

THAT'S WHAT THE AD SAID

"Yes, I know—Joe and I were reading it. He called my attention to the big headline 'Nothing like it in All Canada—the NEW—NEW—NEW—STAR WEEKLY'."

"I like the idea of the whole paper being in one compact tabloid size—don't you?"

"Yes—and the part where they say the Star Weekly is going to be new in many other ways."

"I remember that—they say a new and modern make-up and new type and extra beautiful coloring and arrangement in the Picture section."

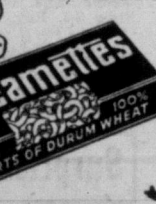

"I forget now but when is it coming out?"

"Oh—definitely on October 29th."

Rotarian 'Road Show' Smash Hit in Nanaimo Soiree

BY TONY DICKASON

Friendships are vibrant and alive when business and professional men can lift nine hours from a busy mid-week, schedule and devote it to this end exclusively.

Two hundred Vancouver Island Rotarians and their wives, "Rotary Annes," fulfilled this fundamental concept of the international club Wednesday in Nanaimo.

Just Laughter

The "Hub City" was the rendezvous for eight Island Rotary clubs, with the heaviest representation, 104 persons from Victoria. Sidney sent 20; Chemainus 26, a representation equal to the host city. Duncan sent 38. Rotarians were present also from the Alberni district, Campbell River, Courtenay and Qualicum Beach.

It was strictly a fellowship and fun gathering; no speeches, just laughter.

The "delegates" from Victoria and centres south of Nanaimo had a train-travel treat. They chartered a "Rotary Special," a four-car train from the CPR which brought all-steel modern equipment to the island specially for the jubilant junket.

Housez Busiest

A similar trip north two years ago was a "smash success."

Victoria Rotary vice-president Morris Greene, the "Mayor of Store Street," headed the big capital city group in the absence of the president, Vern Davidson.

Busiest man on the trip was Jack Housez, inter-city meetings chairman, and the entertainers.

It can come as a slight shock to learn architects play accordions, insurance adjusters, cornets, merchandise managers trombones, and medical men clarinets.

They played up and down the coaches en route north, everything from Dixieland to the old-tidies of which grand-ma's dreams were fabricated.

All they missed was "A Wandering Minstrel, I," which might have been appropriate.

The little combo had Pat Birley, accordion; Mike Turky, cornet; Cliff Rutledge, trombone, and Dr. "Mac" Edmison, clarinet.

It is a Rotary habit to call members by first names; thus sometimes such eminent local persons as a radiologist doctor are at first encounter hard to identify—particularly when tooting a licorice stick.

The porter-newsies didn't know one end of the train from another, but they tried hard.

Ironing Board

In black wigs and black-face, past president George Duck and contemporary Bill Clark tooted around selling newspapers, oranges, candy, and offering such added little services as ironing pants. In fact, they carried an ironing board along, and draped one gentleman on it for faster action. The board collapsed.

The "special" left at 3.05 as scheduled and arrived on the dot, 6 p.m. After the three hours in Nanaimo the train pulled into the E & N station here at midnight.

Visiting Rotarians were met by Nanaimo club president Tommy Bennett. Although the Nanaimo members were official hosts, it was strictly a "pay as you go" plan; all members footed their own bill.

Mr. Duck, speaking about two minutes, blackface removed, said the next district conference would be in Victoria March 24-26 and about 800 Rotarians were expected from the Island, B.C. mainland and northern Washington.

Last-Time Meeting

The district, No. 151, has now been organized and the March gathering will mark the last time the old district can meet as a unit, he said, urging attendance.

A good deal of banter was tossed back and forth between the Victoria vice-president and the Nanaimo club chief on merits of their two cities. Nobody won a decisive victory.

Visiting from furthest away was Sigurd Stein, vice-president of the Rotary Club in Askim, Norway. He is visiting his Nanaimo friend Heise Skallerud.

Victoria Entertains

Dinner and entertainment was enjoyed in the Plaza Hotel dining room where following the meal a one and one-half-hour program by Victoria clubbers held attention.

The acts were good, and in some cases, professional.

Dr. Edmison, who said "I am trying hard not to bound on to the stage," was a deadpan, amusing emcee. It was extremely well done. Bill Anderson and Bill Holmes, both of the Rotary orchestra here as were other instrumental performers, played violin and concertina in a duet of "Bells of St. Marys."

Their chime effects were encored.

Bill Thomson sang an Irish number in a rich baritone. He sang it twice to strong applause, accompanied by Mr. Birley on the piano.

Jack Housez, an extremely talented man, kept guests quiet and attentive with fast, accurate charcoal sketches of famed persons. Each took only four minutes. Main feature details were filled in last, leaving the audience guessing. He sketched Premier Bennett, Eisenhower, Mamie, Adlai and Eleanor Roosevelt.

'Winnie' Too

The "piece de resistance" was Churchill, sketched upside down; that is, the sketch was upside down.

Conductor to Nanaimo on the 72-mile trip was Frank

Hillier, 45 years with the E & N, of 2885 Ashby Road. He invited people to roam around, and several travelers went to the "observation booth" in a caboose.

Indicative of the fun was the conductor coming back, W. O. Adams of Nanaimo. He sat down with his accordion—"I always take it with me—" and played with the gang.

"Please come again, please come again" was heard when festivities in Nanaimo ended. This is likely.

BETWEEN TIMES By MONTE ROBERTS

In the morning mail, a communication from Century Sam, the Centennial Man:

Dear Monte:

As an old timer to a Between Times, I wish to answer your question, "whatever became of Century Sam?"

Whatever became of Century Sam was, he has been sulking.

It turns out that some people in Victoria think Century Sam ain't dignified enough to be the Centennial Man.

This gives Century Sam, namely me, great mental anguish.

When a man gets to be as old as a man as this man is, one thing he ain't short of is dignity.

Why, I am so dignified, when I dunk my crumpets in my tea I wear gloves.

Such dignity comes only with old age, and I am afraid my critics do not understand just how old I am.

My critics think I will not even be 100 years old until 1958. This just ain't so, and I can prove it.

Even my severest critics have to admit I have been responsible for most of the big construction jobs in this province. Nobody can deny, for instance, that I personally built the Fraser River.

I mention this, not to boast, but as proof of my age.

It is a matter of record that Simon Fraser discovered the Fraser River in 1808.

It is not so well known that I was awarded the contract to build the Fraser late in 1807. Under the terms of the contract, I had to have the river ready to be discovered by 1808.

When I took on the job, I thought it would be a simple matter. I ordered a bulldozer from Massey-Harris, but, much to my dismay, I received a reply (signed by both Mr. Massey and Mr. Harris) saying that Massey-Harris had not yet been founded.

In fact, Mr. Massey and Mr. Harris pointed out, the bulldozer had not yet been invented.

If you doubt this, you can come around any time and see the letter from Mr. Massey and Mr. Harris. It was signed with a ball-point pen, which hadn't been invented yet, either.

How I overcame the lack of bulldozer and other equipment not yet invented is too long a story to bother you with at this moment.

I only mention this to prove I am a very old man. And in old age, there is dignity.

I intend to remain in my present sulking condition until this fact is properly recognized.

Yours for Dignity,
Century Sam.

MORE ACCIDENTS

Police Will Be Tough

Police officials today made a fresh appeal to motorists and pedestrians to take special caution during the dangerous driving conditions of the winter months.

The plea—and warning that police will be tough with offenders—was made after a spate of bad accidents Wednesday night, including the Greater Victoria area's 16th traffic fatality of the year.

Three persons were injured in separate collisions between 7 and 8 p.m.

Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer today said all motorists should pay more attention to their driving habits and exercise caution at all times.

"If they realized the potential destructiveness of the machines they're driving fewer chances would be taken," he said.

LIGHT CLOTHING

Pedestrians were also urged to look carefully before crossing streets and to wear some clothing of light clothing during the dark winter nights.

The first accident Thursday night occurred at Quadra and Burdett at 7.10 when a car driven west on Burdett by George John Jonah, 337 Robertson, collided with a car driven by Lillian Cumming, 430 Luxton.

Mrs. Cumming was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of head injuries and released.

HEAVY DAMAGE

Damage was heavy to both autos.

At 7.45 p.m. James English, 72, of the Dominion Hotel, suffered a broken leg when he collided with a car at Burdett and Rockland. He was reported in good condition today.

Driver of the car was Lois McCartney, 2801 Blackwood. English was crossing the street at the time of the accident.

Another mishap occurred at 8 p.m. when a police ambulance answering a call to the fatal accident on Richmond Road collided with a car en route.

The wagon, driven by Const. Fred B. Acreman, 2525 Quadra, collided with a car driven by Gerald A. Reimer, 1248 Oscar, at the intersection of Bay and Cook.

Reimer was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by a second ambulance dispatched to the scene and was later released after treatment for minor head cuts.

Union Fights Here For Right to Picket

A labor union in Appeal Court today battled over its right to picket a small Vancouver bakery.

The appeal of Local 468 of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America is against a judgment of Mr. Justice H. J. Sullivan, who upheld an injunction restraining the union from picketing the bakery of Leon Hammer.

The shop was picketed after Mr. Hammer refused to consent to a "union shop" on the grounds his small business could not carry additional expenses in wages. In addition, there was a dispute over the dismissal of a union employee.

Union officials told the proprietor to sign the agreement like other large bakeries or "get out of the business."

The justice said pickets not only walked to and fro with their signs in front of the bakery with a street frontage of only 25 feet, but used tactics as "pointed stares and grimaces" at customers.

He said the purpose of this way to convey the impression that there was a strike. In effect, he added, there was no strike as some employees had quit because the bakery was not a "union shop."

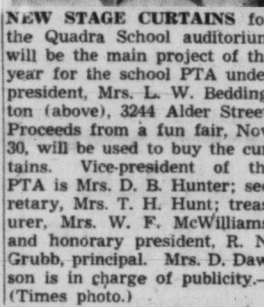

PUNISHMENT

The justice further charged the union with picketing the bakery for the purpose of putting the plaintiff out of the wholesale business as a punishment for the dismissal of an employee.

The union in its appeal is taking issue with the justice on this point. It claims the justice erred in holding that the union was attempting to punish the proprietor of the bakery.

The union also alleges the judgment is contrary to law and it is entitled under the provisions of the Trades Union Act, to picket.

The case is continuing. K. M. Ratcliff is counsel for the plaintiff, while A. B. MacDonald is representing the union.

NEW STAGE CURTAINS for the Quadra School auditorium will be the main project of the year for the school PTA under president, Mrs. L. W. Beddington (above), 3244 Alder Street. McWilliams, and honorary president, R. N. Grubb, principal. Mrs. D. Dawson is in charge of publicity. (Times photo.)

New Census Protest To Ottawa Planned

Fight for Higher Total Going Into Second Round

Further protest of federal census totals for Victoria will be made with assistance of city MP Dr. F. T. Fahey and former cabinet minister Robert W. Mayhew.

Decision to carry its population fight to top governmental levels was reached by city authorities today.

Council finance committee took the action after learning Ottawa census officials have declined further consideration of a city protest that census figures are lower than they should be.

A council finance committee meeting today heard city manager C. C. Wyatt quote a letter from Dominion Statistician Herbert Marshall:

NO ACTION

"The census count appears consistent with other material available for the Victoria area and we propose to take no further action."

City officials believe the city population is 53,000 rather than 53,088 as listed by the recent census.

The committee, headed by Ald. W. F. Pinfold, will send a report on the matter to Dr. Fahey and ask him to appoint Mr. Mayhew to take the protest to proper authorities. Dr. Fahey will be there on personal business.

MORE IN GRANTS

The population figures are important to the city as a basis for computing B.C. provincial grants. If the city was credited with an additional 2,000 people, the grant would be increased next year by $13,000. Over the five-year period before the next census, the increase would mean an additional $65,000 to Victoria.

A study by Mr. Wyatt shows 2,008 additional living units were constructed here in the last five years. Average number of persons per living unit throughout the province is 3.3.

In the same period Victoria recorded an increase of 1,958 persons by deducting number of deaths from number of births. This figure alone is 200 greater than the population increase reported for the city by the federal authorities.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—In visiting the Art Gallery, I have frequently heard the term "chiaroscuro" mentioned in regard to paintings. What is the exact meaning of this word?—J.A.

A.—The word "chiaroscuro" comes from two Italian words, chiaro, meaning light, and oscuro, meaning shade, and relates to the disposition of light and shade in a painting. It has come to mean the atmospheric effect obtained by the artist through the handling of highlights and shadows.

Originally the term was used in connection with the early method of printing wood engravings from several blocks, or to a picture in dual tones of black or brown and white.

For excellent examples of the handling of chiaroscuro, look up reproductions of the work of some of the great Dutch and Flemish masters.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

CHEK OPENING DELAYED ANOTHER WEEK

Opening of local television station CHEK-TV has been delayed again, it was learned today.

The tentative opening date of November 15 has been delayed at least another week.

Reason for the delay given by Charles E. White, station manager, was the U.S. steel strike. Because of it, Westinghouse, in Hamilton, Ont., has been unable to complete the station's transmitter.

On the rozier side, Mr. White said he had been advised that such equipment as cameras, projectors and control room equipment for the Sanich studios is scheduled to arrive in Victoria November 5. He estimated that it would take about five days to install.

Disks Sticky on Both Sides
Replace Tacks and Tapes

By PENNY SAVER

A tape that's sticky on both sides, won't stick to your fingers, and can be used over and over again seems almost too good to be true, doesn't it? But that's exactly what you can buy in town. Sticktacks, their brand name, are round disks of sticky tape that will stick to anything, metal or glass. They take the place of tacks or tape, and can be easily removed, to be used again. It's true—they won't stick to your fingers, for their surface is tacky to grip the surface firmly, but not so gooey as to tangle up in your hands. No more tack-marked walls for you. A booklet of 82 sticktacks in two different sizes is yours for just 35 cents.

An all-aluminum magnetized ash tray for automobiles, boat or home caught my eye while I wandered around town. This flip-top ash tray can't tip or spill, because you have to pick it up to turn it over. They come in three shades of metallic-shaded aluminum and will stick firmly to any metal surface. If the ash tray in your car is located on the driver's side, a front-seat passenger has a hard time putting ashes in the tray, and chances are they'll go on the floor. A good investment is this ash tray that sells at $1.95.

Clothes in pink or turquoise with attractive silver thread and pearl highlights are dressy enough for a luncheon date, and warm and cozy enough to warrant cold weather wear. These are $2.98.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Exercise Helps Woman to
Be Beautiful at Middle Age

The essential parts of true beauty are acquirable at practically any age. A graceful carriage, a clear skin, good grooming, a slim figure, and that inner sparkle and warmth which come from an abundance of physical vigor and a love of life, will make a woman lovely at any age.

A middle-aged woman has many advantages over the very young woman. She knows the value of meticulous grooming. She has poise and grace which are practically impossible at an early age. She has tact and charm which come from self-confidence. If she has a sense of humor she has developed it. Her values are sound. She knows by then what she wants from life and is not harassed by confusion.

Too often, however, years land on waistlines and enthusiasms and bog them down with fatty deposits and lackluster. The woman who takes exercise down the years with her has a great advantage over the one who is more sedentary. The physically active outdoor woman always has more bloom, more zest, more energy, and remains youthful-looking for much longer than her rocking chair friends.

The following exercise is a good one and is easy to do. Lie on the floor on your left side, leaning on your left arm, right arm at right angles to the body. Raise your right arm up close to your head. Inhale deeply as you do so. Keep your arm in this position as you raise your right leg sideward-upward knee stiff. Lower the right leg. Continue raising and lowering. After a while turn on the right side, lean on the right arm and raise the left arm up close to the left ear. Hold while you raise and lower your left leg.

This exercise is slimming to waist and thighs. If you would like to have my routine of exercise for the waistline, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

About error in wedding announcement:

I ordered my daughter's wedding announcements and when they were delivered I was horrified to find an error. The year is given as 1955 instead of 1958. I hope you will answer promptly and tell me what I should do, for time is running out.

Louise Davis answers:

Get in touch Louise Davis with the store and check. If the clerk had written 1955 and you okayed it with your signature, the store is not obligated financially. But if the store or the engraver made the error another order should be rushed.

In the meantime you can have the envelopes addressed and stamped, ready to go. It won't be serious if the announcements are mailed a week or so after the wedding. If you were at fault by approving the order and feel you can't afford another, make the best of it by neatly penning out the last "five" and writing "six" after it.

Y-Teens Dedication
Ceremony on Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at 3, 250 members of Girls' Y-Teen will gather with their parents and friends in Christ Church Cathedral to attend the 22nd annual recognition service of the Girls' Y-Teen clubs of Victoria. At this time the students will dedicate themselves to the Y-Teen fourfold purpose—to be physically fit, mentally alert, socially alive and spiritually awake.

The service and candle lighting ceremony is planned and conducted by the members of Y-Teens. Dean Brian Whitlow will give the address. Miss Thordis Anderson, president of Victoria Y-Teen Inter-club Council, will lead in the dedication. A central candle will symbolize God the Eternal Source. From this candle Pat Lee, Esquimalt; Georgina Pethard, Victoria; Margaret Nelson, Mount View, and Gail Manning, Oak Bay High, will light four individual candles representing the ideals embodied in the code. When her candle is lit each girl will carry the light to the waiting members and row on row of Y-Teens will light their candles. As each girl accepts the light, her dedication is complete.

During the past summer Y-Teen presidents met at Camp

Pircom and the YWCA for leadership training. They carried back to their clubs the lessons learned. They discussed how to work effectively together, how to reduce prejudice and the need to combat jealousy, selfishness and hypocrisy. The service is universal in nature and is open to the public.

Singer Opens Tour

BERLIN (Reuters) — American singer Marian Anderson began a European tour which will take her to Dusseldorf, London, Paris, Geneva and Brussels with a concert here Tuesday night. Miss Anderson sang to a full house in the high school for music in West Berlin. She received a warm welcome by Berlin music lovers.

Modern Woman 'More Attractive'

LONDON (Reuters) — A voice from the Victorian past has defended the beauty of the modern woman. "In my humble opinion, the young woman of today is not only just as good-looking as her grandmother but is far more attractively turned out," says chivalrous Sir Harry Brittain, in a letter to The Times. "My hearing is not quite so keen as it was 80 years ago, but my sight is just about 100 per cent."

Toronto Girl's Recording Tops City Concert

A fine Canadian soprano in her first major recording abroad, will be heard at tonight's concert presented jointly by the Recorded Music Society and Victoria Art Gallery at the Gallery.

Lois Marshall sings the part of the Queen of Sheba in the Royal Philharmonic's presentation of Handel's secular oratorio, "Solomon." Conductor is Sir Thomas Beecham, who has expressed great admiration for the Toronto singer's voice and artistry.

The high fidelity concert will feature some of the principal parts of the LP recording, among them the lovely "Chorus of Nightingales." Also on the program will be Lalo's "Symphony Espagnole," the E flat Major Symphony of Dvorak, and the beautifully rendered songs of the Old World by the Roger Wagner Chorus.

The first concert this season in the new setting proved that acoustically it is most satisfactory. An audience of approximately 90 persons attended.

SASSENACHS TINGLE TOO

City Scots Whoop For Will Starr

By AUDREY SLD. JOHNSON
Times Music Critic

They all had a wonderful time at the Royal Theatre Wednesday night—all the Scots that is, including the entertainers—though to those of us who humbly confess to be mere Sassenachs, there were some moments of confusion.

However, the White Heather Concert Group was received by some 1,400 expatriots with tumultuous approval. National fervor reached its height as dazzling Will Starr played Highland reels and strathspeys on his virtuoso accordion. Whoops and yells from the audience, clapping hands and tapping feet accompanied him.

And this reviewer knows of at least one set of Sassenach blood vessels that were popping and one pair of non-Scott's feet that were inspired by such rhythms as the Gay Gordons and Dashing White Sergeant. Confusion arose from the rapid fire of Scots dialect, particularly on the part of MC Jimmy Neil.

With due acknowledgement of the fact that the majority of the audience were probably Scotsmen, and that the entertainers were giving us just what they give their audiences in Aberdeen, Edinburgh and Glasgow, still some concession should be made by the MC to the fact that he is now in a land of mixed nationalities.

During the first half of the program also, no one, with the exception of shrewd and seasoned Will Starr, was helped by the ugly distortions of the PA system mike.

In the second half, it was either turned off or so lowered that the natural voices came over and matters greatly improved. It made one wonder why professional entertainers in a well-built theatre must hug the mike at all. They had to get along without it once.

Boiled Down to Two-Man Show
It was an amusing, and at times stimulating evening, if rather over-long. Nevertheless, in the light of cool reflection, it must be confessed that it boiled down to a two-man show; the two being a clever comedian named Stanley Baxter and, of course, Will Starr.

Baxter has a puckish and delightful personality and a remarkable gift for impersonation. Whether representing the killed lad with his lass at the cinema, the roguish old age pensioner or the teen-age gawking farm lad, he was both convincing and extremely funny. Funny even though most of his material was as stale as last week's buns.

But Starr still remains the brightest light in the show—pun unintentional but inevitable. And as much for his truly beautiful arrangement and presentation of The Last Post, as for his more spectacular performances.

For the rest, Gordon MacKenzie has a fine tenor and sang some well-loved Scottish songs surprisingly well. Ivy Carey has a charming appearance and a pretty voice, and Denis Woolford is, as any competent pianist must be to such a show, an indispensable asset.

A smart 10-minute performance by the pipe band of the First Battalion, Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's), led by Pipe Major A. McD. Pollock, makes a stirring prelude to the show, which will be repeated tonight at 8.

Spanish Poet Awarded Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Juan Ramon Jimenez, 74-year-old Spanish poet, best known for his odes to a donkey, has been awarded the 1956 Nobel prize for literature.

The award was made by 18 literary experts of the Swedish Academy of Letters from a field of about 30 candidates proposed for the $38,000 prize.

His best-known work, Platero Yo (Silver and Me), written in 1914, is about a light grey donkey named Silver to whom the poet makes poetic speeches while wandering along the roads of southern Spain.

Six-Month Term For Robbery, Assault at Duncan

DUNCAN (CP)—A 17-year-old Indian, charged with robbery with violence, pleaded guilty in police court here this week and was sentenced to six months in Oakalla by Magistrate A. C. Sutton.

Following an argument at the Green Point Indian Reserve, Alphonse "Charlie" Harris of the reserve struck Garnet Roy Attwood of Duncan on the head with a board and robbed him of $96 in cash and a $75 cheque.

Attwood was fined $30 and costs for supplying liquor to an Indian.

SOUTH COWICHAN HIGH SCHOOL, when completed, will provide classroom space for 200 youngsters of Cobble Hill, Shawnigan Lake, Mill Bay

Junior High May Be Ready By Christmas

DUNCAN—Officials of Cowichan school district 65 are hopeful a new $225,000 South Cowichan Junior High School, on the old Island Highway north of Mill Bay, will be ready for use after the Christmas holiday.

The school, with six classrooms, industrial arts and home economics rooms, and combined gymnasium-auditorium, will serve grades 7 to 10 when first opened, but eventually may accommodate grades 7 to 12.

Set on 10 acres of land, it is the major item in the $660,000 school construction by-law passed by school district ratepayers last December.

Already completed under the by-law are a two-room Glenora School, and one-room additions at Sahtlam and Westholme.

'Chiselling' Prisoner Must Pay for Repairs

The youth, arrested for car theft, was also given two years suspended sentence under a $500 bond, prohibited from driving for two years and given an 11 p.m. curfew.

"Red" Robinson of CJOR will be master of ceremonies for the dance and will play his special records.

CHANGES COLOR

Strange Sea Creature Was Box Crab

NANAIMO—A "mysterious" marine creature caught last week near Ahousat, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, has been identified as a lowly box crab.

The crab was taken in Rocky Pass, and baffled fishermen at both Ahousat and Tofino before it was decided to fly it to the Pacific Biological Station at Nanaimo for identification.

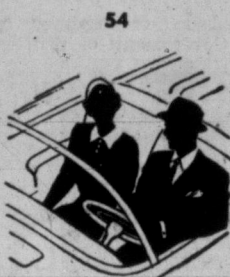

"Box crabs are quite common, especially on the west coast of the Island," said Dr. J. Cameron Stevenson, scientific assistant to the biological station director.

"They are not as common as the commercial crab, but are by no means rare, and are native to Vancouver Island waters," he said.

It is slightly larger than the ordinary crab, he said, with horn-like projections on its shell. Its color is dull orange, but subject to change according to the color of its immediate surroundings.

Reds Filled 100 Notebooks In B.C. Tour

VANCOUVER (CP)—Soviet Russia's forestry minister, Georgi M. Orlov, scheduled to leave here today to fly back home, told B.C. lumbermen Wednesday night "the trip was very worthwhile."

"We learned a great deal that we can use back home. I was impressed by your new techniques, your forest research, and pulp and lumber mill operations."

Mr. Orlov and his eight-man party filled 100 notebooks with diagrams, sketches and memos on West Coast lumbering industry.

"We stayed an extra five days here because it was so impressive and instructive."

Ontario averages 1,200 forest fires a year, many of them caused by human carelessness. Fires and insect disease have cost more timber than all the commercial cutting since logging began.

Economy Laundry Staff Accept Wage Offer; 120 at Other Plants Request Conciliation

Employees at one city laundry have voted to accept a 20 cent hourly wage increase on a two-year contract but the staffs at two other laundries have rejected the same offer.

The 30 employees of Economy Steam Laundry voted acceptance; the 85 employees of New Method Laundries and the 35 employees of Standard Steam Laundry have asked for a conciliation officer.

All are members of the Laundry Workers' Union, Local 1. Basic wages at New Method is 85 cents an hour and at Standard, 77 cents. The union hopes to raise the basic rate at both plants to $1.10 to bring them closer to Vancouver rates.

FEDERAL ELECTION JUNE 24?

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Possibility of calling the federal election for Monday, June 24, is now receiving study in government circles here, it was learned today.

The later June date is being more favorably considered than June 10, which formerly had been the most likely date.

Parliament is expected to be called into session in mid-January with prorogation to come about Wednesday, April 17, government sources said.

Fighting Breaks Out In Algeria

TUNIS (AP)—Premier Habib Bourguiba told the Tunisian Parliament tonight that fighting has broken out between French and Tunisian troops along the Algerian frontier.

The Tunisian information minister, Bechir Ben Yahmed, said the government has ordered its tiny army to resist any French attempt to cross the frontier from Algeria and to hold Tunisian frontier posts at all costs.

Ben Yahmed told a press conference that 15 small units of the French fleet had sailed into Gabes, along the east coast of Tunisia. A general strike was called at once, he said, and thousands demonstrated.

There was no immediate comment from French government sources in Paris on the reported fighting.

The reports of clashes followed the French capture of five leaders of the Algerian nationalist rebellion. The capture has brought bitter protests and rioting at several points in Tunisia and Morocco.

Woman Pedestrian Killed; 16th Traffic Fatality Here

The Greater Victoria traffic fatality toll for 1956 rose to 16 by a car while crossing Richmond Road Wednesday night when a 68-year-old woman died of injuries.

69 DEATHLESS DAYS TO GO

Fatality-Free Drive Balked After 3 Days

The effort of Victoria drivers to keep a clean sheet to the end of 1956 with "72 deathless days" failed after only three days when a pedestrian was killed on Richmond Road Wednesday night.

This raised to 16 the number of traffic fatalities for the Greater Victoria area this year.

When the campaign started Monday it was estimated that, on the basis of deaths so far, there would be another four by the year's end unless motorists and pedestrians would all collaborate in a courtesy and safety drive to avoid accidents.

With the 72-day period broken, a new target has been set of "69 deathless days" to the end of the year.

Today's box score:
DEATHS to date 16
FATALITIES since Oct. 22 1
ACCIDENTS since Oct. 22 (causing injury) 5

PLANE HITS CALIFORNIA SUBURB

OAKLAND, Calif. (BUP)—A plane believed to be a single-jet United States navy aircraft crashed in a populated section of Oakland at 11.41 a.m., today and first reports said a fire is raging at the scene.

Oakland police said the plane crashed into the side of a "populated mountain residential area." Police reported that the plane "miraculously" missed hitting homes in the area. Fate of the plane's lone occupant was not immediately known.

Tracking Dog To Join Hunt For Lost Youth

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP)—Weary searchers struck out today through deepening snow in the sixth day of search for a young hunter, missing in a mountain country northwest of here.

Thirty men took up a trail of footprints through the snow north of the Whipsaw Creek area which they hope belong to Harvey Garrison, 18, of Princeton.

Garrison disappeared last Friday while hunting with a companion. "The tracks in the snow must be his," a police officer said today. "We know of no one else in the area."

He said the tracks are in a north-westerly direction and should be followed to below the snowline today. Then, a tracking dog will be used.

Thirty men camped out overnight in the cold mountains so as to get an early start in the hunt, 200 miles east of Vancouver.

Townsmen of Princeton raised $1,000 in a five-hour drive Wednesday. This sum will pay for 10 hours searching by a helicopter.

Game warden Alan Gill, leader of the search party, said Garrison is warmly dressed, has a rifle and matches and has a good chance of surviving.

TROUBLE SPOTS FOR RUSSIA

Heavy arrows on map point to strife-torn European danger zones. In Warsaw, Wladyslaw Gomulka's appointment as red party leader touched off mass sit-down strikes by workers demanding that Russia keep hands off Polish affairs. WORLD REACTION

NEW YORK—President Eisenhower says the United States "deplores the intervention of Soviet military forces" in strife-torn Hungary.

OTTAWA—External affairs minister Lester Pearson withheld official comment but intimated he may make a policy statement Saturday.

LONDON—British and west European newspapers treated the rebellion with caution. "The fortunes of eastern Europe hang by a thread," said the Manchester Guardian. "It is a political tightrope walk... and a Russian blood bath."

STRASBOURG—The 16-country council of Europe's Consultative Assembly will vote Friday on a proposal to give economic aid to trouble East European countries if they ask for it.

MONTREAL—The Hungarian Liberation Movement sent telegrams to the UN Security Council, and to Eisenhower, pleading "stop the Russian slaughter of Hungarians."

WASHINGTON—Government officials believe that Russia's show of the iron fist in Hungary will damage severely her ability to win friends and build influence in South Asia and the Middle East.

TORONTO—Joseph Salsberg, former Labor Progressive party member of the Ontario legislature, praised the anti-Soviet demonstrations as "a good thing for the Polish people and Hungarian people and socialism in general."

RAN INTO OWN CANNON SHELLS

Faster Than Its Speeding Bullet, Jet Fighter Shoots Itself Down

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Evening Sun says a new U.S. Navy jet fighter, flying at supersonic speed, shot itself down by running into cannon shells it had fired seconds before.

In a story by Donald Bremner, the paper says the fantastic accident—first of its type in aviation history—occurred last month while a test pilot was test firing new 20-mm cannons over the Atlantic Ocean near Long Island.

Bremner says test pilot Tom Attridge, who survived, was making a series of diving runs in an F11-F1, a new single-seat carrier-based fighter still undergoing tests.

The pilot's mission was to reach a certain speed and test the four cannons at that speed by firing them into the ocean. He put his jet into a shallow

Revolt Rages On Casualties Heavy

VIENNA (UP)—A German engineer who left Budapest this noon estimated that 2,000 to 3,000 persons had been killed in the fighting in the Hungarian capital.

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

VIENNA—Hungary's civil war raged through its third day today despite new government promises of forgiveness and a pledge to negotiate withdrawal of all Soviet troops in Hungary.

Premier Imre Nagy promised he will negotiate with Moscow to withdraw Russian occupation troops if the rebels will end their revolution.

Nagy went on the radio to appeal for the rebellious forces of students and workers to lay down their arms and help his new government.

He promised that if they did so the country would get a new deal.

"As soon as order is re-established those troops which were called by our government to help will be withdrawn," he said.

Apparently this meant that as soon as the revolution ended the Russian troops, tanks and jet plane pilots would be recalled to their bases. Then Nagy would take up negotiations with Moscow to have the four or five Soviet divisions in Hungary removed to Russia.

Broadcasters in Budapest claimed troops were slowly crushing the anti-Soviet rebellion—but fighting was continuing.

Radio Budapest announced that Ernoe Geroe, first secretary of the Hungarian Communist party, has been ousted from his post and Janos Kadar named to succeed him.

Kadar had been arrested in a recent purge and then released. Kadar is a former interior minister who spent four years in prison on charges of Titoism and then was again made a leading personality in the Hungarian Communist party.

He was a member of the Hungarian delegation headed by Geroe which visited President Tito in Yugoslavia earlier this month.

Second Major Party Shake-Up

It was the second shake-up in the party hierarchy since rebellion flared in Hungary on Tuesday. Imre Nagy succeeded Andras Hegedus as premier.

Geroe's ouster was decided upon by the Hungarian Communist party politburo, the radio announced.

It added that after the politburo session Kadar and Nagy would broadcast to the people. Then the radio made this appeal:

"Hungarians: Hoist the national flag on all buildings." The radio then burst into the national anthem, which was played repeatedly.

Geroe, a frail long-time Communist and one-time Moscow international agent, became first secretary of the Hungarian Workers Communist party last July 19 when the central committee fired long-time dictator Matyas Rakosi.

Geroe, like Rakosi, had been a Stalinist. But even though he had been considered a stop-gap appointee as party boss he seemed to be making headway. He attended last month's Yalta conference of Communist chieftains, with Russia's Nikita Khrushchev and Yugoslavia's President Tito.

His ouster today indicated that the Hungarian Communist party leadership is bent upon appeasing the rebellious people and the party rank and file.

The appointment of the once-purged Nagy as new premier

RUSSIANS WITHDRAW

LONDON (Reuters)—Soviet army units in Poland "have either already withdrawn to their bases or are in the course of doing so," the Polish news agency PAP reported in a special announcement today.

The agency said all Soviet troop movements will have been concluded Oct. 26.

"Life throughout the country now is back to normal," the agency said.

munist party, has been ousted from his post and Janos Kadar named to succeed him.

Kadar had been arrested in a recent purge and then released. Kadar is a former interior minister who spent four years in prison on charges of Titoism and then was again made a leading personality in the Hungarian Communist party.

His ouster today indicated that the Hungarian Communist party leadership is bent upon appeasing the rebellious people and the party rank and file.

The appointment of the once-purged Nagy as new premier was the first step in this direction, observers in Vienna said. Both Nagy and Kadar are endorsed by Tito.

Budapest radio, which earlier claimed the revolt had been liquidated on its third day, said shortly before noon that the rebels were still firing in various sections of the capital. Earlier broadcasts had predicted destruction of the rebel forces "in the course of the day."

Warnings were broadcast to the 1,250,000 residents of Budapest to remain off the streets except in case of urgent necessity. The all-night curfew was ordered continued.

Budapest radio announced widespread arrests of rebels and suspected sympathizers. Hungarians were warned not to give shelter to insurgents.

Hungary's interior ministry broadcast that all persons illegally in possession of arms or ammunition must hand them over to police within 24 hours. Those failing to comply with the order faced the death penalty.

Subsequent broadcasts reported mass surrenders of insurgents in almost all resistance centres, but added that a number of barricades remained in city streets. Many rebels were trying to escape over the border to Austria. Troops and police were out to halt them. Fires were widespread including Budapest's national gallery.

There was no direct communication with Budapest from the West. The radio was the main source of information on events in the capital.

U.S. industrialists have been making a concerted drive to lure Canadian-trained personnel to their companies across the border. Canadians who have been studying at universities and colleges south of the border have been a prime target for the American personnel officers.

CAPT. NORDENSON

Skipper Suffers Heart Attack At Ship Probe

NEW YORK—Captain Gunar Nordenenson, master of the liner Stockholm, suffered a "cerebral spasm" Wednesday when testifying about the fatal collision of his ship with the Andrea Doria last July 26.

Unable to answer correctly a complex mathematical question, he turned to the hearing master and said softly: "I don't feel well." He turned pale and his pallid face dropped forward into his trembling hands.

He had been asked to calculate how much time would elapse before the two ships collided if they travelled at a combined speed of 40 knots over a 10-mile distance. The captain worked at the problem for 10 minutes, gave the wrong answer, and then turned pale.

He was led from the stand and the hearing was adjourned. He likely will remain in hospital until Monday.

Earlier Nordenenson had admitted his third mate who testified that the collision took place nine minutes after the radar sighted the Doria at 10 miles distance, apparently erased the plot of the Andrea Doria's course following the collision. Presentation of the radar plot would have been an important factor in events leading up to the disaster from which more than $40 million in suits and countersuits have been filed against both lines.

fied as Robert B. Travis, 185 Barkley.

Mrs. McCoy suffered head injuries, fractured right arm and elbow, broken leg and internal injuries.

A number of operations were performed during the four hours she lay in the Jubilee emergency ward in the attempt to save her life.

PATROL CAR CRASH

The accident occurred a few minutes before 8 p.m.

A police ambulance-patrol car driven by Const. Fred Acreman, answering the call, was involved in a collision with another car at Bay and Cook.

City police were kept busy during the hour between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. answering two other accidents involving injuries and heavy damage to autos. (See page 21).

The fatality was the fifth of the year in the city of Victoria. The last occurred a week ago when Mrs. Mary Lush, 60, of 211 Cook, died three days after she was injured in a collision at Simcoe and Government.

Funeral services for Mrs. McCoy will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at St. Alban's.

Mrs. McCoy was born in Manitou, Man., and was the widow of John Frederick McCoy.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. F. Hamilton, Mrs. James Beech, Mrs. William Pugh and Mrs. W. Waldron, all of Victoria; two sons, William and George, Victoria; two brothers, William and Edgar Pugh, Victoria, and seven grandchildren.

Canadian campuses to persuade university graduates to move to the U.S.

Advertisements appear in large Canadian papers inserted by U.S. concerns. One appeared in Toronto last week which read:

"Just 200 miles from the Canada-U.S. border you can be working for a well established concern which has been a leader in the field of ignition for 30 years. Due to our new expansion program we have immediate need for qualified personnel for above listed openings."

The advertisement was appealing for Canadian electrical and mechanical engineers.

The aviation industry in the U.S. in particular has carried out an extensive campaign to attract Canadian-trained personnel.

EASING IN DRAFT

The campaign by the American firms has been stepped up because of an easing in the draft situation across the border. Young Canadians for years have been reluctant to move into jobs in the U.S. because they were advised they might be compelled to serve immediately in the American armed forces. Now that situation is changing and there is less likelihood of Canadians occupying technical positions in the U.S. being subject immediately to a draft call.

The higher salaries prevailing across the border make the jobs in American companies attractive. Canadian salary levels may be forced upwards in several vocations as Canadian employers are forced to compete with their American counterparts.

Canada's campaign to attract trained American personnel into Canadian jobs was opened last week when Hon. James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries, spoke in Chicago. He called for a great northward flow of U.S. citizens to help Canada develop its resources.

"The U.S. actually has a debt to pay back to Canada in this matter," he declared. Canadians who cross the line are not untrained and unskilled, he said, but the "bright young college graduates."

While this country was not asking all of them to return "what we do need today, however, is a northward flow of the same type of young people to participate in our great development," he said.

HOUSE OPENS FEB. 7

Premier Eases Opposition Chores

Next session of the British Columbia Legislature will open on Thursday, Feb. 7, at 3 p.m., Premier Bennett announced Wednesday.

"This will give the opposition members a full weekend in which to prepare their replies to the Speech From the Throne," the Premier said.

In previous years the opening of the Legislature often took place on a Tuesday.

The Premier intimated the budget will be brought down about two weeks after the opening—probably on a Friday—so that the opposition will have "a full weekend" in which to study it.

"From this you will see that the government is doing its best to be kind to the opposition," Mr. Bennett said.

TIME TO TAKE STOCK

Good Art Strikes Real Hard Blow

By GWLADYS DOWNES

For nearly two years this column has been trying, more or less tactfully, to separate the wheat from the chaff in gallery exhibitions and discuss general principles of aesthetics from the point of view of the interested spectator.

With the prospect of class A exhibitions coming in the near future (when the fireproof wing is built), it seems to me time to take stock and make a few stinging remarks about quality and values.

The present exhibitions by the Canadian Group of Painters and the Painter-Etchers, let me say first, are well worth seeing. With one or two exceptions, the level is average to high compared to our usual group shows. There is even a picture "The Rocking Chair," by Marthe Raskine, that I feel I could live with. But there is also some of the mediocrity which is the bane of Canadian letters and art.

If art is not an experience that hits you, almost like a blow to the solar plexus, what good is it? Surely the whole point is that some sensation is communicated in a living, vital way? You might as well be looking at wall-paper if you are not receiving a keen impression of someone else's ordered sensibility.

Artist Examines Bit of Our Universe

Now you may not like what you see. Your experience may have in it disturbing elements. So has "King Lear." And if art is to be important that is precisely what its value may be for you. For the other thing that we require of the artist is to reveal to us something of the nature of experience which we have not realized, or articulated, ourselves. He examines a bit of our universe by the concentrated light of his own vision.

After looking at Jan Zach's charcoal sketches of Victoria beaches, or Emily Carr's forest studies, can you ever look at familiar scenery again with the same eyes? Your experience has been enlarged, enriched, and made coherent by your acceptance of their formal presentation of inchoate shapes.

To me, Ezra Pound's statement about literature "Literature is news that stays news" is true for art as well. My quarrel with many painters, competent though they may be, is that they have as little to say which is really news of the world we live in, as a conflate advertisement. Either the artist has had no experience which is worth while communicating, or his technical equipment does not permit him to convey what he has experienced. In both cases the spectator has to admit that he has asked for bread and been given a stone.

Aid for India's Beggar Children Asked Here by Dr. Hitschmanova

Support for homeless and hungry children, members of the next generation and "our hope for tomorrow" was urged Wednesday night by Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, executive director of the Unitarian Services Committee in Ottawa.

Here on a cross-country tour, Dr. Hitschmanova addressed more than 200 persons at Victoria College. She will leave Canada Dec. 1 on her fourth world tour of major relief areas.

"As the years go by, I find it increasingly difficult to describe in words alone the conditions as I find them," she said. "It is far more tragic to convey, because people are involved, people just as we are."

FAINT FROM HUNGER

"I was one of very few women in Seoul in 1952, just 40 miles from the battlefield. With the United Nations in Korea, relief workers found that the great need was to feed hungry children—children who would get up, go to school, and then faint from hunger at noon."

"At that time we introduced a school-feeding program which was later taken over by UNICEF and the Korean government."

"When I returned in 1953, I was told that 6,000 children still needed supplemental feeding, and they could feed only 4,000 to 5,000.

"Today, however, that emergency is almost over and the great new problem facing us in Korea is one of education, training and rehabilitation."

EAGER TO LEARN

"More than 75 per cent of the schools were destroyed during the Korean war."

In India, the greatest need is assistance to beggar children, slum dwellers and isolated villages, she said.

"Over the months the USC has saved literally thousands of lives."

In the middle East the USC is pledged to supply clothing to more than 500,000 children who are in utter rags.

"They have asked for school uniforms. The USC bought material and cut out 5,000 uniforms. Now we are looking for people across Canada to sew them for us," she said.

Volunteers may write the Unitarian Services Committee in Ottawa, Ont.

On Christmas Day in Greece

this year, Dr. Hitschmanova will act as the "Canadian Santa Claus" in distributing toys, blankets and clothing to 15,000 orphans.

The USC is pledged to raise $100,000 for these projects before the end of the year.

"I am here to ask your support," said Dr. Hitschmanova. Meeting was sponsored by the local United Nations Association as a special program for United Nations Day Wednesday.

Dr. Hitschmanova also was scheduled to address a meeting of Victoria Rotary Club in the Empress Hotel today at noon.

The Headland

THIS morning, I was slow and sleepy as I did the school lunches for the family. It was my own fault, because I sat up far too late last night, just reading.

But the house was quiet with everyone else in bed, the open fire was bright and warm, and the book, "The Headland," by Carol Brink, was very good.

It's the first of Carol Brink's adult novels I have read, though I've long known and loved some of her books for children. ("Caddie Woodlawn," "Mademoiselle Misfortune" and "Anything Can Happen On the River.")

"The Headland" is about a small village, Saint-Christophe-Pins, on the coast of France. Each summer it was the home of five children. Although very different in character and social standing, they were bound together by their deep love for the headland with its ruined castle.

The story itself is told by four of the children; by the gentle, sensitive John Marsh, who was half-American and half-French; by the quiet, devout Catalina Jimenez who was sister to the wild boy Raoul, and daughter of the talked-about respectable mother; by red-haired Hilda Marsh who became an artist; by Victoria Chalmers, the shy, domesticated child of elderly and respectable English parents.

But that conveys nothing of the book itself. I loved it for its lyrical prose, for the descriptions of the village and the villagers, for the wild and windy freedom of the head-land, for the nightingale that sang in the woods, for the sensitivity to childhood ways, for the contrast and interplay between the characters.

To my mind, much of the writing is beautiful. In places, it reads like poetry.

Gradually, the tragedy of these five children begins to unfold. The halcyon days of youth slip away. One boy goes off to fight in Spain. The Second World War engulfs the pretty village. The suspense and excitement mount steadily.

I read eagerly to the last page to discover what happened to these five young people whom I'd grown to know and like so well.

(Often, in modern novels, I find the characters so repulsive or so wooden that I don't care how soon they take to dose or drink just so long as it finishes 'em off.)

I seldom buy a novel, except in cheap or pocketbook editions. But I shall buy a copy of this one because I'd like to have it in the house for re-reading when I'm in the mood.

I intend to see whether the Bookmobile also has two other novels by Carol Brink—"Stopover" and "Buffalo Coat."

I can only think of two men who'd really like this book. But I can think of lots of women who would love it.

When I finished it, I thought of Daphne du Maurier's "Rebecca," of Paul Gallico's "The Snow Goose," of Elisabeth Goudge's "Channel Island novels," of Helen MacInnes' "Assignment in Brittany," and of Marjorie Allbrand's "No Surrender."

There's little or no humor in this book. But there's sadness and sensitivity, truth and beauty.

I, for one, am very glad I didn't miss it.

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

YOUR HEALTH

People Who Bleed Terribly

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

There is a terrible disease, fortunately rare, in which every so often some of the boys of a family will almost bleed to death. As people will remember, some of the sons of the last King of Spain suffered from this disease. It is called hemophilia. I was just reading about a recent convention in New York, where the world's experts on this disease met and discussed their latest discoveries.

Unfortunately, the chemical processes underlying the clotting of blood after a cut are so complicated that it has taken men many years to learn that in this disease the main inherited defect seems to be the presence of a chemical that slows the change of a substance called prothrombin into one called thrombin. A while ago a substance was isolated from blood that, in the case of bleeders, will facilitate the process of clotting. Unfortunately, it occurs in only minute amounts, and now the problem is to get enough of it so that it can be used as a medicine.

Every so often in this column I will be speaking of the disasters that can come to children when both of their parents happen to be "carriers" of a disease. Carriers are persons who, while they have inherited a tendency to a certain disease, do not develop it themselves. Often, however, an expert can show by certain tests that they are not quite normal.

When a man who is a carrier marries a normal woman, their children can escape harm, but when he marries a woman who is a carrier of his disease, several of their children are likely to come to grief.

We know now that this is true of bleeders, and hence a man who comes of a bleeding family had better not marry a woman who shows in her blood traces of the abnormality that produced bleeding. Similarly, a man who is a carrier of diabetes had better not marry a woman who is a carrier of diabetes, and a man who is a carrier of epilepsy had better not marry a woman whose electroencephalogram is typically epileptic.

One of the next big advances in medicine must come now through a study of carriers.

EPILEPSY IN MONKEYS AND CATS
Some years ago, when the vagaries of psychoanalytic theory were even more weird than they are today, some men suggested that epilepsy was a form of psychic masturbation! Today we know that epilepsy is due to abnormalities in the structure or chemistry of certain parts of the brain. In ancient Egypt there was a very able and observant brain surgeon who wrote that epilepsy often followed a blow on the head in battle. As I remember, he knew that it could be relieved by lifting up a depressed fragment of skull which was pressing on the brain.

Some years ago when laboratory workers learned how to make cats epileptic, they opened up a great field for research, and soon hundreds of new drugs were being tried out on the animals to see which would block the convulsions. Today, a few of the best of these drugs are being used to relieve the distresses of thousands of epileptic children.

Recently, it has been found that a monkey can be made typically epileptic by operating on him and leaving a little alum on the surface of his brain. Now, I read in an article by Dr. Margaret A. Kennard, of Vancouver, Canada, that in some monkeys, which have not been so operated on, the electroencephalograms, or records of the tiny electric brain waves, look much like those of human epileptics. So far, none of the animals with these abnormal records have had big seizures resembling those of man, but some of them have had slight seizures with twitching of their fingers and toes and face. Convulsions occur in a number of species of animals. Doubtless, from these observations will come help for human epileptics.

PREMARITAL BLOOD TESTS
In all but nine states the law now demands that persons who plan to marry have their blood tested for syphilis. Now, I read that at a recent meeting of state laboratory directors, Dr. Henry Bauer of Minnesota advised against these routine tests because today syphilis is so rarely discovered in persons who never suspected that they had it. Such a discovery is made perhaps once in 10,000 tests.

Dr. Bauer feels that there are many other ways in which a state's health funds can now be spent to greater advantage. Actually, it is years since I saw a person with congenital syphilis, and he came from a Latin American country where syphilis is still common.

In several of the Latin American countries in which 13 or 14 used to start going with usually infected streetwalkers, a high percentage got syphilis, and a high percentage failed to get sufficient treatment. As a result, many of them later gave syphilis to their bride and their unborn children.

Fortunately, in this country most young men who have some intelligence know that when they get infected by a prostitute they must quickly get treatment, and they must keep getting treatment until they are told that they are cured. They know, also, that they must not marry until they are cured.

No, Janice—
There Isn't Simple Answer

By ED GRIFFITH
Of The Bakersfield Californian

Janice Anderson is a little girl with a big question.

And, like another little girl who sparked the famed "Dear Virginia" editorial of the New York Sun many years ago, Janice has directed her query to a newspaper. Here is the question she has posed to the Bakersfield Californian:

"Dear Editor:
"My name is Janice Anderson. I am 10 years old. I would like to know the difference between Democrats and Republicans. My mother and father are Republicans and my neighbor is a Democrat."

"Thank you, Janice Anderson, McFarland, Calif.
The young Virginia of a generation ago was informed by a wise editorial writer that "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus."

SEARCHES FOR ANSWER
But the Californian's editor found out he wasn't wise enough to give a clear, simple answer to Janice's straightforward question.

Managing Editor Jim Day asked county party leaders for help. The best he got was, "Now, that's a tough one to answer."

The editor finally wrote to President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson.

After some delay, Murray Snyder, assistant press secretary to the president, replied for the Republicans, and Stevenson himself answered for the Democratic party.

Snyder wrote that "it is not possible for us to give you a presidential statement" on Janice's question. But he offered what he termed "an excellent exposition on the subject," delivered in Minneapolis last month by Arthur Larson, undersecretary of labor.

Stevenson sent directly to Janice a seven-page double-spaced copy of a speech he delivered in August to members of the United Auto Workers.

REPUBLICAN

The official Republican statement started out by saying that there is an "underlying cleavage in philosophy between the two parties." Democrats, said Larson, have "a tendency, as to all sorts of human problems, to try collective and governmental remedies as against relying on individual, pluralist, and private activities."

The Republican party "believes that the private and individual remedy should be tried first in all problems, with the government stepping in only if the job is too big for private, state, or local efforts."

Declared Stevenson: "It is the Democratic faith . . . that the government of a democracy must trust all the people it serves, that it must be made up of representatives of all the people, and that its obligations cannot be to any special interest but only to all the people."

Of the millions of people listening to the words now being uttered in campaign speeches, perhaps one might know a short, simple answer to Janice's questions.

Meanwhile, Janice figures her search for uncomplicated truth has not been completely fruitless: She has Stevenson's autograph.

"A woman's most important accessory is a well-dressed man." So I read in an ad for Arrow shirts. To make it complete, I would add: "Crowned with a fine haircut." Don't you agree? For fine hair-cutting phone 5-2855.

GREAT EXPANSION NOTED
ON 45th ANNIVERSARY

The past forty-five years have seen many changes in Victoria and The Standard Furniture Company has grown and expanded with the city it serves. Throughout its history the big store has been owned and operated by the Dennys of Victoria. Founded by the late Mr. Denny, senior, it had its beginning on Pandora Avenue, the doors being opened in 1911. Later it moved to the 700 Block, Yates Street, where now a modern, five-storey store is operated, employing a staff of 125 and boasting 30,000 square feet of floor and display space.

With the steadily growing volume of business even this proved increasingly inadequate and recently the Standard Stock Depot was opened, giving a further 30,000 square feet of storage space.

These facilities enable The Standard to specialize in the import field, offering, in addition to top quality Canadian-made goods, furniture, draperies and rugs from all parts of the world. Shipments from the U.K. and foreign countries arrive daily at the Standard Stock Depot and the company is the largest Canadian importer of Sanderson's prints from England. Recent arrivals include new, modern furniture from Denmark and new Counterpoint furniture. In addition, the size of the Standard operation allows them to have much furniture made exclusively for them, to their own designs and specifications.

During the Standard's 45th Anniversary celebrations, buyers and management have made special efforts to bring an exceptionally large and varied display of modern furnishings to the big Yates Street store.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Coppers, Oils Lead 8th Straight Loss

Coppers and junior western oils were the leaders as the Toronto stock market suffered its eighth straight setback today. Other sections followed with losses ranging to three points among higher-priced issues.

Losses in a declining market at New York were moderate with leading issues showing prices lower by fractions to about two points.

Paper had the worst decline, a drop of $6 but only on a 75-share turnover. Ford dropped three points to lead motors down. U.S. Ford and Chrysler were off 1 1/2 points and General Motors 2 1/2 points while Aluminum was off 1 1/2. Gains were few but International Utilities increased a point and Federal Grain 1 1/2 points on a light trade.

International Nickel fell 2 1/2 points among senior base metals. Conwest dipped 45 cents in juniors and Hoyle and Beaucage 30 cents.

Western oils recorded declines ranging to 40 cents and had many around 15 cents. Security was one of few winners with a 20-cent gain.

AT NEW YORK motors, coppers and rails were pacemakers in the general retreat but selling pressure was light.

International Nickel dropped more than two points. Canadian Pacific was off a fraction.

AT LONDON the stock exchange was irregular and uncertain today apart from British funds, which went ahead on renewed small investment buying.

Movements were easier after the unchanged dividend. In newsprints Bowater, was dull. Small losses were recorded by British Aluminum, Borax, Gun-liver, Imperial Chemicals and Hudson's Bay.

Oils were quiet and irregular with British Petroleum easier after the unchanged dividend. Ultramar and Triad were firm although the latter eased in late dealings. Dollar stocks reflected Wednesday's Wall Street set-back and Ford was several points off on the contraction in quarterly profits. Coppers were depressed under the influence of the cut in the metal price.

AT VANCOUVER a quiet market saw prices mixed. Cowhank Copper went up five cents on a sale of 10,600.

WINNIPEG

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most prices were irregular in moderately active trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Liberal offerings appeared in rye with some selling influenced by reports that Argentina was offering rye for export to Norway. Prices were mostly lower. Oats and barley prices moved in a narrow range. Barley had some export demand in connection with small sales to the United Kingdom.

Flax trade was moderately active with some seaboard demand. There were reports of small sales of flax to the continent.

There was no information available on overnight export loadings of Canadian wheat. Lakehead prices on class two, IWA and domestic wheat were down 1/2 cent.

Rotarian 'Road Show' Smash Hit in Nanaimo Soiree

BY TONY DICKASON

Friendships are vibrant and alive when business and professional men can lift nine hours from a busy mid-week schedule and devote it to this end exclusively.

Two hundred Vancouver Island Rotarians and their wives, "Rotary Annes," fulfilled this fundamental concept of the international club Wednesday in Nanaimo.

Just Laughter

The "Hub City" was the rendezvous for eight Island Rotary clubs, with the heaviest representation, 104 persons from Victoria. Sidney sent 20; Chemainus 26, a representation equal to the host city. Duncan sent 38. Rotarians were present also from the Alberni district, Campbell River, Courtenay and Qualicum Beach.

It was strictly a fellowship and fun gathering; no speeches, just laughter.

The "delegates" from Victoria and centres south of Nanaimo had a train-travel treat. They chartered a "Rotary Special," a four-car train from the CPR which brought all-steel modern equipment to the Island specially for the jubilant junket.

Housez Busiest

A similar trip north two years ago was a "smash success."

Victoria Rotary vice-president Morris Greene, the "Mayor of Store Street", headed the big capital city group in the absence of the president, Vern Davidson.

Busiest man on the trip was Jack Housez, inter-city meetings chairman, and the entertainers.

It can come as a slight shock to learn architects play accordions, insurance adjusters cornets, merchandise managers trombones, and medical men clarinets.

They played up and down the coaches en route north.

everything from Dixieland to the old-timers of which grand-ma's dreams were fabricated.

All they missed was "A Wandering Minstrel, I," which might have been appropriate.

The little combo had Pat Birley, accordion; Mike Turyk, cornet; Cliff Rutledge, trombone; and Dr. "Mac" Edmison, clarinet.

It is a Rotary habit to call members by first names; thus sometimes such eminent local persons as a radiologist doctor are at first encounter hard to identify—particularly when tooting a licorice stick.

The porter-newsies didn't know one end of the train from another, but they tried hard.

Ironing Board

In black wigs and blackface, past president George Duck and contemporary Bill Clark toiled around selling newspapers, oranges, candy, and offering such added little services as ironing pants. In fact, they carried an ironing board along, and draped one gentleman on it for faster action. The board collapsed.

The "special" left at 3:05 as scheduled and arrived on the dot, 6 p.m. After the three hours in Nanaimo the train pulled into the E & N station here at midnight.

Visiting Rotarians were met by Nanaimo club president Tommy Bennett. Although the Nanaimo members were official hosts, it was strictly a "pay as you go" plan; all members footed their own bill.

Mr. Duck, speaking about two minutes blackface removed, said the next district conference would be in Victoria March 24-26 and about 800 Rotarians were expected from the Island, B.C. mainland and northern Washington.

Last-Time Meeting

The district, No. 151, has now been organized and the March gathering will mark the last time the old district can meet as a unit, he said, urging attendance.

A good deal of banter was tossed back and forth between the Victoria vice-president and the Nanaimo club chief on merits of their two cities. Nobody won a decisive victory.

Visiting from furthest away was Sigurd Stein, vice-president of the Rotary Club in Askim, Norway. He is visiting his Nanaimo friend Heide Skallerud.

Victoria Entertains

Dinner and entertainment was enjoyed in the Plaza Hotel dining room where following the meal a one and one-half-hour program by Victoria clubbers held attention.

The acts were good, and in some cases, professional.

Dr. Edmison, who said "I am trying hard not to bound on to the stage," was a deadpan, amusing emcee. It was extremely well done. Bill Anderson and Bill Holmes, both of the Rotary orchestra here as were other instrumental performers, played violin and concertina in a duet of "Bells of St. Marys."

Their chime effects were encored.

Bill Thomson sang an Irish number in a rich baritone. He sang it twice to strong applause, accompanied by Mr. Birley on the piano.

Jack Housez, an extremely talented man, kept guests quiet and attentive with fast, accurate charcoal sketches of famed persons. Each took only four minutes. Main feature details were filled in last, leaving the audience guessing. He sketched Premier Bennett, Eisenhower, Mamie, Adlai and Eleanor Roosevelt.

'Winnie' Too

The "piece de resistance" was Churchill, sketched upside down; that is, the sketch was upside down.

Conductor to Nanaimo on the 72-mile trip was Frank

Hillier, 45 years with the E & N, of 2885 Ashby Road. He invited people to roam around, and several travelers went to the "observation booth" in a caboose.

Indicative of the fun was the conductor coming back, W. O. Adams of Nanaimo. He sat down with his accordion—"I always take it with me—" and played with the gang.

"Please come again, please come again" was heard when festivities in Nanaimo ended. This is likely.

BETWEEN TIMES

By

MONTE ROBERTS

In the morning mail, a communication from Century Sam, the Centennial Man:

Dear Monte:

As an old timer to a Between Times, I wish to answer your question, "whatever became of Century Sam?"

Whatever became of Century Sam was, he has been sulking.

It turns out that some people in Victoria think Century Sam ain't dignified enough to be the Centennial Man.

This, gives Century Sam, namely me, great mental anguish.

When a man gets to be as old as a man as this man is, one thing he ain't short of is dignity.

Why, I am so dignified, when I dunk my crumplets in my tea I wear gloves.

Such dignity comes only with old age, and I am afraid my critics do not understand just how old I am.

My critics think I will not even be 100 years old until 1958. This just ain't so, and I can prove it.

Even my severest critics have to admit I have been responsible for most of the big construction jobs in this province. Nobody can deny, for instance, that I personally built the Fraser River.

I mention this, not to boast, but as proof of my age.

It is a matter of record that Simon Fraser discovered the Fraser River in 1808.

It is not so well known that I was awarded the contract to build the Fraser late in 1807. Under the terms of the contract, I had to have the river ready to be discovered by 1808.

When I took on the job, I thought it would be a simple matter. I ordered a bulldozer from Massey-Harris, but, much to my dismay, I received a reply (signed by both Mr. Massey and Mr. Harris) saying that Massey-Harris had not yet been founded.

In fact, Mr. Massey and Mr. Harris pointed out, the bulldozer had not yet been invented.

If you doubt this, you can come around any time and see the letter from Mr. Massey and Mr. Harris. It was signed with a ball-point pen, which hadn't been invented yet, either.

How I overcame the lack of bulldozer and other equipment not yet invented is too long a story to bother you with at this moment.

I only mention this to prove I am a very old man. And in old age, there is dignity.

I intend to remain in my present sulking condition until this fact is properly recognized.

Yours for Dignity,
Century Sam.

MORE ACCIDENTS

Police Will Be Tough

Police officials today made a fresh appeal to motorists and pedestrians to take special caution during the dangerous driving conditions of the winter months.

The plea—and warning that police will be tough with offenders—was made after a spate of bad accidents Wednesday night, including the Greater Victoria area's 16th traffic fatality of the year.

Three persons were injured in separate collisions between 7 and 8 p.m.

Deputy Police Chief Harry Mercer today said all motorists should pay more attention to their driving habits and exercise caution at all times.

LIGHT CLOTHING

Pedestrians were also urged to look carefully before crossing streets and to wear some article of light clothing during the dark winter nights.

The first accident Thursday night occurred at Quadra and Burdett at 7:10 when a car driven west on Burdett by George John Jonah, 337 Robertson, collided with a car driven by Lillian Cumming, 430 Luxton.

Mrs. Cumming was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital for treatment of head injuries and released.

Union Fights Here For Right to Picket

A labor union in Appeal Court today battled over its right to picket a small Vancouver bakery.

The appeal of Local 468 of the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' International Union of America is against a judgment of Mr. Justice H. J. Sullivan, who upheld an injunction restraining the union from picketing the bakery of Leon Hammer.

The shop was picketed after Mr. Hammer refused to consent to a "union shop" on the grounds his small business could not carry additional expenses in wages.

In addition, there was a dispute over the dismissal of a union employee.

Union officials told the proprietor to sign the agreement like other large bakeries or "get out of the business."

In addition, there was a dispute over the dismissal of a union employee.

The case is being watched with interest by labor unions across the province as it involves the interpretation of the Trades Union Act which grants them the right to picket.

Mr. Justice Sullivan held that while unions have the right to picket under certain circumstances, it did not apply to the present case.

He ruled the union had gone much further "in what can be called legal picketing."

The justice said pickets not only walked to and fro with their signs in front of the bakery with a street frontage of only 25 feet, but used tactics as "pointed stares and grimaces" at customers.

He said the purpose of this way to convey the impression that there was a strike. In effect, he added, there was no strike as some employees had quit because the bakery was not a "union shop."

The justice further charged the union with picketing the bakery for the purpose of putting the plaintiff out of the wholesale business as a punishment for the dismissal of an employee.

The union in its appeal is taking issue with the justice on this point. It claims the justice erred in holding that the union was attempting to punish the proprietor of the bakery.

The union also alleges the judgment is contrary to law and it is entitled under the provisions of the Trades Union Act, to picket.

CHEK OPENING DELAYED ANOTHER WEEK

Opening of local television station CHEK-TV has been delayed again, it was learned today.

The tentative opening date of November 15 has been delayed at least another week.

Reason for the delay given by Charles R. White, station manager, was the U.S. steel strike. Because of it, Westinghouse, in Hamilton, Ont., has been unable to complete the station's transmitter.

On the rozier side, Mr. White said he had been advised that such equipment as cameras, projectors and control room equipment for the station studios is scheduled to arrive in Victoria November 5. He estimated that it would take about five days to install.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—In visiting the Art Gallery, I have frequently heard the term "chiaroscuro" mentioned in regard to paintings. What is the exact meaning of this word?—J.A.

A.—The word "chiaroscuro" comes from two Italian words, chiaro, meaning light, and oscuro, meaning shade, and relates to the disposition of light and shade in a painting. It has come to mean the atmospheric effect obtained by the artist through the handling of highlights and shadows.

Originally the term was used in connection with the early method of printing wood engravings from several blocks, or to a picture in dual tones of black or brown and white.

For excellent examples of the handling of chiaroscuro, look up reproductions of the work of some of the great Dutch and Flemish masters.

Disks Sticky on Both Sides

By PENNY SAVER

A tape that's sticky on both sides, won't stick to your fingers, and can be used over and over again seems almost too good to be true, doesn't it? But that's exactly what you can buy in town. Stik-tacks, their brand name, are round disks of sticky tape that will stick to anything, metal or glass. They take the place of tacks or tape, and can be easily removed, to be used again. It's true—they won't stick to your fingers, for their surface is tacky to grip the surface firmly, but not so gooey as to tangle up in your hands. No more tack-marked walls for you. A booklet of 82 stik-tacks in two different sizes is yours for just 35 cents.

An all-aluminum magnetized ash tray for automobiles, boat or home caught my eye while I wandered around town. This flip-top ash tray can't tip or spill, because you have to pick it up to turn it over. They come in three shades of metallic-shaded aluminum and will stick firmly to any metal surface. If the ash tray in your car is located on the driver's side, a front-seat passenger has a hard time putting ashes in the tray, and chances are they'll go on the floor. A good investment is this ash tray that sells at $1.55.

Red and white or navy and white knitted helmet hats to wear with car coats or for any wintertime sport, button neatly under the chin, and keep head and ears warm, no day.

no matter how nippy the weather. A knitted scarf piece that covers part of the shoulders ensures a draught-proof collar, too. These are $1.98.

Cloches in pink or turquoise with attractive silver thread and pearl highlights are dressy enough for a luncheon date, and warm and cosy enough to warrant cold weather wear. These are $2.98.

An angora car-warmer that covers a part of your head, your ears, and then ties neatly under your chin is in white with blue and red patterns. These are 98 cents. A modified stocking cap is $1.98.

WHY GROW OLD?

Exercise Helps Woman to
Be Beautiful at Middle Age

The essential parts of true beauty are acquirable at practically any age. A graceful carriage, a clear skin, good grooming, a slim figure, and that inner sparkle and warmth which come from an abundance of physical vigor and a love of life, will make a woman lovely at any age.

A middle-aged woman has many advantages over the very young woman. She knows the value of meticulous grooming. She has poise and grace which are practically impossible at an early age. She has tact and charm which come from self-confidence. If she has a sense of humor she has developed it to a high degree. Her values are sound. She knows by then what she wants from life and is not harassed by confusion.

Too often, however, years land on waistlines and enthalasms and bog them down with fatty deposits and lackluster. The woman who takes exercise down the years with her has a great advantage over the one who is more sedentary. The physically active outdoor woman always has more bloom, more zest, more energy, and remains youthful looking for much longer than her rocking chair friends.

The following exercise is a good one and is easy to do. Lie on the floor on your left side, leaning on your left arm, right arm at right angles to the body. Raise your right arm up close to your head. Inhale deeply as you do so. Keep your arm in this position as you raise your right leg sideward-upward knee stiff. Lower the right leg. Continue raising and lowering. After a while turn onto the right side, lean on the right arm and raise the left arm up close to the left ear. Hold while you raise and lower your left leg.

This exercise is slimming to waist and thighs. If you would like to have my routine of exercise for the waistline, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 6 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

On Etiquette

About error in wedding announcement:

I ordered my daughter's wedding announcements and when they were delivered I was horrified to find an error. The year is given as 1955 instead of 1956. I hope you will answer promptly and tell me what I should do, for time is running out.

Louise Davis answers:

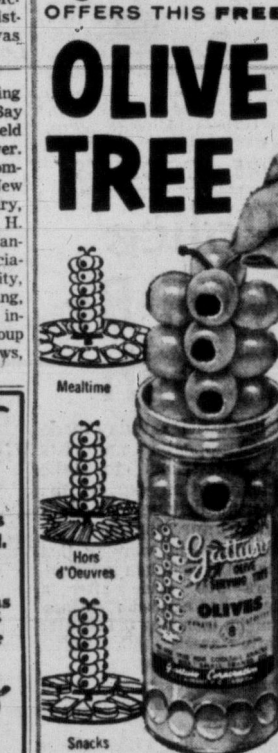

Get in touch Louise Davis with the store and check. If the clerk had written 1955 and you okayed it with your signature, the store is not obligated financially. But if the store or the engraver made the error another order should be rushed.

In the meantime you can have the envelopes addressed and stamped, ready to go. It won't be serious if the announcements are mailed a week or so after the wedding. If you were at fault by approving the order and feel you can't afford another, make the best of it by neatly penning out the last "five" and writing "six" after it.

Miss Thriftway Ruling Thrown Out

DETROIT (AP)—The inboard racing commission of the American Power Boat Association today reversed the disqualification of Miss Thriftway, the Seattle speedboat owned by Willard Rhodes in the Gold Cup race here Sept. 1.

By a unanimous 11-0 vote, which followed a lengthy hearing by a special committee, the commission ruled that Miss Thriftway had not fouled a buoy on the seventh lap of the first heat of the Gold Cup race and that the Detroit committee's action in disqualifying her was improper.

Fighting Breaks Out
In Algeria

TUNIS (AP)—Premier Habib Bourguiba told the Tunisian Parliament tonight that fighting has broken out between French and Tunisian troops along the Algerian frontier.

The Tunisian information minister, Bechir Ben Yahmed, said the government has ordered its tiny army to resist any French attempt to cross the frontier from Algeria and to hold Tunisian frontier posts at all costs.

Ben Yahmed told a press conference that 15 small units of the French fleet had sailed into Gabes, along the east coast of Tunisia. A general strike was called at once, he said, and thousands demonstrated.

There was no immediate comment from French government sources in Paris on the reported fighting.

The reports of clashes followed the French capture of five leaders of the Algerian nationalist rebellion. The capture has brought bitter protests and rioting at several points in Tunisia and Morocco.

Ketch Sighted

THE LIZARD, England (Reuters)—A ketch carrying two Toronto men across the Atlantic from Canada was sighted off the Cornish coast here tonight.

TROUBLE SPOTS FOR RUSSIA

Red Tank Fires on Unarmed Demonstrators in Budapest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Parliament Square in Budapest became a battlefield shortly after noon today when a Russian tank opened fire on a few thousand peaceful demonstrators whose only weapons were Hungarian flags.

Reports from other parts of the capital told similar stories.

The situation was more than confused this morning. It was thought that resistance of the rebels gradually waned away though sporadic shooting with both small arms and artillery could be heard throughout the night.

(From AP and UP Dispatches)

VIENNA—Hungary's civil war raged through its third day today despite new government promises of forgiveness and a pledge to negotiate withdrawal of all Soviet troops in Hungary.

A German engineer who reached the Austrian capital tonight estimated that 2,000 to 3,000 persons had been killed in the fighting in the Hungarian capital.

Premier Imre Nagy promised he will negotiate with Moscow to withdraw Russian occupation troops if the rebels will end their revolution.

Nagy went on the radio to appeal for the rebellious forces of students and workers to lay down their arms and help his new government.

He promised that if they did so the country would get a new deal.

As soon as troops which were called by our government to help will be withdrawn," he said.

Apparently this meant that as soon as the revolution ended the Russian troops, tanks and jet plane pilots would be removed to their bases. Then Nagy would take up negotiations with Moscow to have the four or five Soviet divisions in Hungary removed to Russia.

Broadcasters in Budapest claimed troops were slowly crushing the anti-Soviet rebellion—but fighting was continuing.

Radio Budapest announced that Ernoe Geroc, first secretary of the Hungarian Communist party, has been ousted from his post and Janos Kadar named to succeed him.

Kadar had been arrested in a recent purge and then released. Kadar is a former interior minister who spent four years in prison on charges of Titoism and then was again made a leading personality in the Hungarian Communist party.

He was a member of the Hungarian delegation headed by Geroc which visited President Tito in Yugoslavia earlier this month.

Second Major Party Shake-Up

The radio then burst into the national anthem, which was played repeatedly.

Geroc, a frail long-time Communist and one-time Moscow international agent, became first secretary of the Hungarian Workers Communist party last July 19 when the central committee fired long-time dictator Matyas Rakosi.

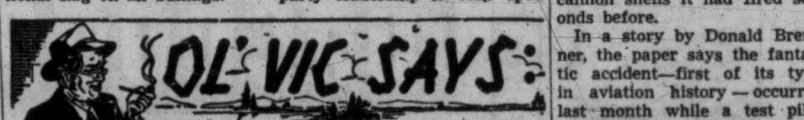

His ouster today indicated that the Hungarian Communist party leadership is bent upon appeasing the rebellious people and the party rank and file.

The appointment of the once-purged Nagy as new premier was the first step in this direction, observers in Vienna said. Both Nagy and Kadar are endorsed by Tito.

Warnings were broadcast to the 1,250,000 residents of Budapest to remain off the streets except in case of urgent necessity. The all-night curfew was ordered continued.

Hungary's interior ministry broadcast that all persons illegally in possession of arms or ammunition must hand them over to police within 24 hours. Those failing to comply with the order faced the death penalty.

There was no direct communication with Budapest from the West. The radio was the main source of information on events in the capital.

That plane that shot itself is something like the politician whose words caught up with him.

Seems the Russians only go for co-existence if they provide the existence and the Hungarians provide the co.

Cayuga Ex-Crewman
Caught in Hamilton

Second arrest in connection with the theft of $14,522 from HMCS Cayuga, in April, 1955, was made today by RCMP.

Arrested in Hamilton, Ont., was AB Robert Thomas Semple, 21, former crew member of the ship.

The theft took place on April 23, 1955, while the Cayuga was in port at Esquimalt, just before she was due to sail on exercises off the California coast.

In September of this year, AB Francis J. Cassidy, 24, confessed to the theft, and is now serving an 18-month sentence.

At his trial, Cassidy could account for only about $2,900 of the stolen money, and named no accomplice. He said the rest of money was "cached" in Ontario, and that he could not find it.

KEPT CASE OPEN
But RCMP kept the case open in an effort to locate the missing money.

The arrest in Hamilton today followed intensive investigation by two officers from the Victoria detachment, RCMP.

AB Semple will be brought here immediately, probably by plane.

An RCMP spokesman here said investigation is continuing. Arrest of AB Semple was made by the RCMP Hamilton detachment. He served in the Cayuga from November, 1953, to May, 1955. He was then posted to Naden, and later drafted to naval divisions at Port Arthur.

Cassidy's confession stated he took the money from an open safe in the cabin of the supply officer, hid it in various places in the Victoria area, and later mailed it to a friend in Port Arthur.

RCMP will not say whether or not the balance of the stolen money has been located.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners reserved judgment Wednesday on the railways' application for a $50,000,000-a-year increase in freight rates.

When the campaign started Monday it was estimated that, on the basis of deaths so far, there would be another four by the year's end unless motorists and pedestrians would all collaborate in a courtesy and safety drive to avoid accidents.

With the 72-day period broken, a new target has been set of "69 deathless days" to the end of the year.

69 DEATHLESS DAYS TO GO
Fatality-Free Drive
Balked After 3 Days

The effort of Victoria drivers to keep a clean sheet to the end of 1956 with "72 deathless days" failed after only three days when a pedestrian was killed on Richmond Road Wednesday night. (See Page 2.)

This raised to 16 the number of traffic fatalities for the Greater Victoria area this year.

Faster Than Its Speeding Bullet,
Jet Fighter Shoots Itself Down

BALTIMORE (AP)—The in an F11-F1, a new single-seat carrier-based fighter still undergoing tests.

The pilot's mission was to reach a certain speed and test the four cannons at that speed by firing them into the ocean.

He put his jet into a shallow dive at a speed of 880 m.p.h. some 13,000 feet above the water and fired a four-second burst from his cannons. After a pause he fired another four-second burst.

As he finished the second round of firing, an object shattered the bullet-proof glass in his windshield. Thinking he had rammed a bird, Attridge headed for a landing field.

But unknown to the pilot, a second shell had pierced his jet engine which failed, causing the jet to crash. The 33-year-old pilot was taken to hospital with a fractured leg and three broken vertebrae.

The battered cannon slug was recovered from the jet engine—proof of what happened. In addition, Bremner reports, a hole was found in the plane's nose where a third shell had struck. None was live ammunition which would have exploded upon impact.

Raid on 'Trained Brainpower' In U.S. Launched by Canada

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Plans are being made by the federal government to try to reverse the steady flow of professional manpower that is draining into the United States many of the trained men badly needed in Canadian industry.

There has developed a drive by U.S. industry to attract Canadians across the border. This has resulted in a mounting tide of trained Canadians moving south to take up residence and jobs.

The Canadian government has decided to launch its own campaign to raid the U.S. store of "trained manpower," one official explained here.

The department of citizenship and immigration will dispatch two of its officers across the United States, as a start, to ascertain the possibilities of persuading American manpower to emigrate to Canada.

Later, the government—depending upon the findings of the two officers—plans to establish immigration offices in a number of American cities or alternatively attach trained immigration officers to Canadian consular offices to bring employment opportunities to the attention of the type of U.S. personnel needed in Canada.

The number of professional workers leaving Canada for jobs across the border in the period 1950 to 1955 was fairly constant. It varied between 2,800 and 3,500. The government believes that Canada attracted more immigrants in the professional worker class in that period than it lost.

The number of all types of immigrants from the U.S. has been running around 10,000 annually, with Canada suffering a deficit balance. In 1953 some 35,000 persons living in Canada moved across the border. The following year the total dropped to 33,000. In 1955 it climbed to 37,200 with 20,000 of the immigrants going in the second half of the year.

U.S. industrialists have been making a concerted drive to lure Canadian-trained personnel to their companies across the border. Canadians who have been studying at universities and colleges south of the border have been a prime target for the American personnel offices.

The American company representatives have been invading Canadian campuses to persuade university graduates to move to the U.S.

Advertisements appear in large Canadian papers inserted by U.S. concerns. One appeared in Toronto last week which read:

"Just 200 miles from the Canada-U.S. border you can be working for a well established concern which has been a leader in the field of ignition for 30 years. Due to our new expansion program we have immediate need for qualified personnel for above listed openings."

The advertisement was appealing for Canadian electrical and mechanical engineers.

The aviation industry in the U.S. in particular has carried out an extensive campaign to attract Canadian-trained personnel.

EASING IN DRAFT

The campaign by the American firms has been stepped up because of an easing in the draft situation across the border. Young Canadians for years have been reluctant to move into jobs in the U.S. because they were advised they might be compelled to serve immediately in the American armed forces. Now that situation is changing and there is less likelihood of Canadians occupying technical positions in the U.S. being subject immediately to a draft call.

The higher salaries prevailing across the border make the jobs in American companies attractive. Canadian salary levels may be forced upwards in several vocations as Canada dian employers are forced to compete with their American counterparts.

Canada's campaign to attract trained American personnel into Canadian jobs was opened last week when Hon. James Sinclair, Minister of Fisheries, spoke in Chicago. He called for a great northward flow of U.S. citizens to help Canada develop its resources.

The U.S. actually has a debt to pay back to Canada in this matter," he declared. Canadians who cross the line are not untrained and unskilled, he said, but the "bright young college graduates."

While this country was not asking all of them to return, "what we do need today, however, is a northward flow of the same type of young people to participate in our great development," he said.

WORLD REACTION

NEW YORK—President Eisenhower says the United States "deplores the intervention of Soviet military forces" in strife-torn Hungary.

OTTAWA—External affairs minister Lester Pearson withheld official comment but intimated he may make a policy statement Saturday.

LONDON—British and west European newspapers treated the rebellion with caution. "The fortunes of eastern Europe hang by a thread," said the Manchester Guardian. "It is a political tightrope walk . . . and a Russian blood bath."

STRASBOURG—The 16-country council of Europe's Consultative Assembly will vote Friday on a proposal to give economic aid to trouble East European countries if they ask for it.

Letter Campaign By Govt. to Cut B.C. Traffic Toll

The B.C. government is to adopt the direct mail approach to motorists in a campaign to reduce death on the highways, Attorney-General Robert Bonner said today.

It will take the form of a tersely worded pamphlet suggesting methods by which the motorist can improve his driving.

The pamphlet will first be sent out by the Motor Vehicle Branch as an enclosure in the more than 1,000 letters a day that are mailed by the branch.

Later the pamphlet may be enclosed in other categories of provincial government mail.

"Everyone in the business world knows that the direct mail approach is the most effective medium of advertising," Mr. Bonner said.

CAPT. NORDENSON

Skipper Suffers Heart Attack At Ship Probe

NEW YORK—Captain Gunar Nordenson, master of the liner Stockholm, suffered a "cerebral spasm" Wednesday when testifying about the fatal collision of his ship with the Andrea Doria last July 26.

Unable to answer correctly a complex mathematical question, he turned to the hearing master and said softly: "I don't feel well." He turned pale and his pallid face dropped forward into his trembling hands.

He had been asked to calculate how much time would elapse before the two ships collided if they travelled at a combined speed of 40 knots over a 10-mile distance. The captain worked at the problem for 10 minutes, gave the wrong answer, and then turned pale.

He was led from the stand and the hearing was adjourned. He likely will remain in hospital until Monday.

Earlier Nordenson had admitted his third mate who testified that the collision took place nine minutes after the radar sighted the Doria at 10 miles distance, apparently erased the plot of the Andrea Doria's course following the collision. Presentation of the radar plot would have been an important factor in events leading up to the disaster from which more than $40 million in suits and countersuits have been filed against both lines.

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Prime Minister Willem Drees told The Netherlands Parliament today he expects changes will be made shortly in the Dutch royal household.

His statement was broadcast and televised direct from the packed parliament building.

A rift in the royal household had been reported earlier and was said to be caused by the influence of a faith healer on the queen.

Woman Pedestrian Killed; 16th Traffic Fatality Here

The Greater Victoria traffic fatality toll for 1956 rose to 16 Wednesday night when a 68-year-old woman died of injuries four hours after she was struck by a car while crossing Richmond Road.

Mrs. Amy Eleanor McCoy, 2616 Richmond, died in Royal Jubilee Hospital at midnight after doctors had worked four hours to save her life.

An inquest will be held Monday at 10 a.m. at McCall Bros. Police officials said today Mrs. McCoy was walking across Richmond from east to west in the middle of the block between Carriek and Haultain near her home when she collided with the car.

Driver of the car was identified as Robert B. Travis, 185 Barkley.

Mrs. McCoy suffered head injuries, fractured right arm and elbow, broken leg and internal injuries.

PATROL CAR CRASH

The accident occurred a few minutes before 8 p.m.

A police ambulance patrol car driven by Const. Fred Acreman, answering the call, was involved in a collision with another car at Bay and Cook streets.

City police were kept busy during the hour between 7 and 8 answering two other accidents involving injuries and heavy damage to autos. (See page 21)

The fatality was the fifth of the year in the city of Victoria. The last occurred a week ago when Mrs. Mary Lush, 60, of 211 Cook, died three days after she was injured in a collision at Simcoe and Government.

Funeral services for Mrs. McCoy will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday at St. Alban's.

Mrs. McCoy was born in Manitoba, Man., and was the widow of John Frederick McCoy.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. F. Hamilton, Mrs. James Beech, Mrs. William Pugh and Mrs. W. Waldron, all of Victoria; two sons, William and George, Victoria; two brothers, William and Edgar Pugh, Victoria, and seven grandchildren.
